GOVT TO SET UP 12 NEW INDUSTRIAL CITIES TO BOOST MANUFACTURING

The Union cabinet on Wednesday approved 12 new industrial cities in 10 states with an estimated investment of ₹28,602 crore

PROJECTS EXPECTED TO CREATE 40 LAKH JOBS

New industrial areas will come up in Kerala's Palakkad, Andhra Pradesh's Orvakal and Kopparthy and Telangana's Zaheerabad and across eight more locations in seven states. Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal said the projects would be completed by 2027 and would create about 10 lakh direct and 30 lakh indirect job opportunities | P11

Amid sporadic violence, bandh response mixed

IMA suspends ex-principal's membership

The Indian Medical Association (IMA) on Wednesday suspended the membership of former RG Kar Medical College and Hospital principal Dr Sandip Ghosh. The suspension came upon requests from the IMA's West Bengal unit

Security measures

Security audit of district hospitals, night patrolling and regulated access at large health facilities were among the slew of measures the Centre asked states to implement to prevent violence against medical professionals

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @ Kolkata

SPORADIC incidents of violence were reported from across the state on Wednesday during the 12-hour bandh called by the BJP against the police action on students who took part in a march to Nabanna, the state secretariat, the previous day.

They were protesting against the horrific rape and murder of a PG trainee doctor at the state-run RG Kar Medical College and Hospital on Augest 9 and demanding the resignation of Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee.

While the bandh evoked mixed response, reports of BJP workers clashing with the police and the ruling Trinamool Congress activists poured in from several districts. Shots were fired at a local BJP leader at Bhatpara in North 24-Parganas, triggering violence.

Former Barrackpore MP and BJP leader Arjun Singh and his TMC counterpart Somnath Shyam were involved in a showdown, with both leaders and their supporters standing face to face in altercation. A BJP supporter was later admitted to a hospital with bullet injuries.

In Kolkata, councillor Sajal Ghosh was arrested from his residence after clashes between BJP and TMC supporters. DC (Central) Indira Mukherjee said Ghosh was arrested for making provocative comments.

At Baguihati in the northern fringes of the city, Bengal BJP president Sukanta Majumdar, accompanied by former MP Debasree Choudhury and senior state party leaders, had an altercation with the police when they tried to stop him. Later, the Union minister blocked CR Avenue outside the state BJP headquarters along with party workers. Leader of the Opposition in the Bengal assembly Suvendu Adhikari led a march in Nandigram.

In Hooghly's Konnagar, TMC and BJP workers clashed in the presence of the police. Tension erupted when BJP workers allegedly asked traders to down their shutters and TMC men prevented them, leading to a fight. Most offices, schools and colleges had thin attendance. P11

Rapists to get death in toughened law: Didi

West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Wednesday said an amendment to existing laws will be passed in the state assembly next week to ensure capital punishment to convicted rapists.

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

EXPRESSING shock and anguish over the alleged rape-murder of a trainee doctor in Kolkata's RG Kar Hospital, President Droupadi Murmu on Wednesday said, "enough is enough". No civilised society must allow its daughters and sisters to be subjected to such atrocities, she added.

"The nation is bound to be outraged, and so am I," the President wrote in an exclusive signed article for news agency PTI. This is the first time that the President is sharing her views on the incident in Kolkata. Murmu said the time has come to introspect. "Where have we erred? And what can we do to remove the errors? Without finding out the answer to that question, the half of our population cannot live as freely as the other half," she wrote in the article titled Women's Safety: Enough is Enough.

Murmu blamed a 'deplorable mindset' for fuelling crimes against women. "Social prejudices as well as some customs and practices have always opposed the expansion of women's rights. This is a rather deplorable mindset. This mindset sees the female as a lesser human being, less powerful, less capable, less intelligent." Those who hold such views see women as an object and it is this objectification that is behind the atrocities, she wrote.

She concluded the article saying, "We owe it to our daughters to remove the hurdles from their path of winning the freedom from fear."

DISTILLERS VS EXCISE DEPT

Liquor shortage in state as excise duty deadlock continues

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA is facing a shortage of Indian Made Liquor (IML). According to sources in the liquor and hospitality industry, the state may run out of IML if the reported stalemate between the distillers and the Excise Department on filing Ex Distillery Price (EDP), as per the new government notification, is not resolved at the earliest.

In the wake of the stalemate, the distillers have not been able to indent their alcohol to Karnataka State Beverages Corporation Limited (KSBCL), which channelises and distributes duty paid liquor to excise licencees in the state.

"This week, the distillers had no transaction with KSBCL because we are unable to file the EDP or the new declared price as per the notification issued on August 23. The Excise Department is not allowing us to do so," claimed sources in the industry.

"The loss to the state exchequer in the absence of any sale to KSBCL may be around Rs 110 crore and Rs 120 crore per day. Besides, if the deadlock continues, the IML stocks in the state will deplete further," they said.

On Wednesday, the distillers met excise officials and appealed to them to approve their new declared prices as per the new notification. "We have asked for an early resolution. There was some positive response, but we have to wait and watch," said industry insiders.

Meanwhile, sources in the government said that they intend to resolve the 'crisis' at the earliest, but it may take at least a week to stabilise the IML inventory. The delay is reportedly being attributed to the scheduled three-day visit of Arvind Panagariya led 16th Finance Commission team to the state from August 29, on which the state machinery is focussed. P4

BEER TO COST MORE?

In a move to increase revenue, the government is likely to increase the AED on craft and draught beer from 150% per bulk litre (pbl) to 185 pc pbl, the sources said. "Beer will be divided into three segments depending upon the percentage of alcohol (v/v). Stronger beer will be priced higher than mild and medium beers," the sources said.

Stray dogs maul morning walker to death in B'luru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 76-year-old retired teacher was mauled to death by a pack of stray dogs near the Air Force playground at Jalahalli on Wednesday morning.

The deceased has been identified as Rajdulari Sinha of Air Force quarters. She was the mother-in-law of an airman.

Sinha was on her morning walk when around 12 stray dogs attacked her at the playground near Air Force East, 7th Residential Camp.

Sinha suffered serious injuries. Though she was rushed to a nearby hospital, the doctors there declared her brought dead. Police have registered an unnatural death case.

Harikrishnan, a resident of the area, said he could not rush to Sinha's rescue because of the compound wall around the Air Force camp. He told The New Indian Express that the elderly woman was walking alone in the morning.

"I was at home when the dogs attacked her. I saw the dogs tearing her clothes. As I screamed for help, the dogs ran away and a man rushed to help her. He took her to a nearby hospital. I feel guilty that I couldn't help her because of the compound wall," he said.

According to an official from the BBMP animal husbandry department, six dogs were caught soon after the incident. "They will be under observation for rabies infection. The area will also be monitored for some days," the official said.

'ASKED MoHUA TO GET INVOLVED'

On the possibility of Karnataka opposing the project, a source in Chennai said, "We approached MoHUA, which is the parent body for all Metro rail networks in the country, and asked it to get involved at the initial stage of the project."

B'sandra-Hosur Metro line may face opposition

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE Rs 6,900-crore Bommasandra-Hosur Metro project proposed by Chennai Metro Rail Corporation Limited (CMRL) will have five stations in Karnataka and seven in Tamil Nadu. A detailed feasibility report on the 23-km elevated metro line (12km in Karnataka and 11km in TN) was presented by a team from CMRL to officials of Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) on Tuesday.

However, there seems to be resistance from Karnataka to the project as Hosur will emerge as a competitor to the business interests of Bengaluru.

With Tamil Nadu also planning an airport in Hosur, which is likely to attract flyers from South Bengaluru, a metro connectivity with Bengaluru will be a windfall for Hosur.

From Bommasandra, the Yellow Line of Namma Metro links RV Road with an interchange with the Airport Line (Blue Line) at Central Silk Board.

The line will also touch suburban rail and bus depots enroute. BMRCL initiated a project on its own on July 9 to extend the Bommasandra line to Attibele. CONTINUED ON: P2

3 in NIA custody for sending info on Karwar naval base to Pakistan

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS @ Karwar

SLEUTHS of NIA took three people into custody on Wednesday for allegedly sending pictures and information related to the INS Kadamba naval base here to enemy countries.

A team of NIA sleuths, including a deputy superintendent of police and three inspectors, took the accused, who worked on a contract basis at the naval base, into their custody in the morning.

They have been identified as Sunil Naik from Todur village in Karwar taluk, Vethan Rhandel from Mudga village and Akshay Ravi Naik of Halavalli village.

They were taken into custody after a few accused in NIA custody spilled the beans. "The NIA arrested one Deepak in Hyderabad in 2023 for sending information related to the naval base to Pakistan and other enemy countries. During interrogation, Deepak revealed that Sunil Naik, Vethan Thandel and Akshay Naik sent him pictures and information pertaining to the naval base and he forwarded them to the agents of the enemy countries," sources said.

Akshay Naik, who was with the naval base earlier, moved to Goa where he worked in a canteen. He was taken into custody in Goa. The other two were taken into custody from the naval base. Sunil Naik was released after issuing a notice, while the other two were taken to a secret location for interrogation, the sources said.

₹840-cr project to make state coast plastic free

VINCENT D'SOUZA @ Mangaluru

THE Department of Economic Affairs (DEA) on August 19 approved the World Bank funded Rs 840 crore Karnataka Strengthening of Coastal Resilience Economy (K-Shore) project to make the state's 320-km coast plastic waste free.

Under this project, the Forest, Fisheries, and Rural Development and Panchayat Raj (RDPR) departments will implement various initiatives to improve the capacity of the coast to withstand pollution, besides creating employment opportunities for locals.

The project also intends to address sea erosion and marine conservation, which is expected to give a fillip to conservation of Olive Ridley turtles and dolphins along the coast.

Dr K Karikalan, conservator of forests, Mangaluru Circle, said under the project, the forest department will take up mangrove cultivation, plant bamboo and cane saplings at estuaries, shores and other areas along the coast, which will act as a vegetative trap. The department will also construct culverts, check dams and causeways, and take up soil moisture works along the banks of 16 rivers that originate in the Western Ghats and enter the Arabian Sea. At estuaries, trash barriers will be set up to collect plastic waste and beach cleaning work will be taken up involving fishermen and other local communities.

Among others, the focus will be on pilgrim centres such as Kukke Subramanya temple, Dharmasthala, Kateel Durgaparameshwari temple, Sri Krishna temple in Udupi, Kollur Mookambika temple, etc. P7

$8.5-BILLION GIFT

Antitrust nod to mega RIL, Disney merger

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Competition Commission of India (CCI) on Wednesday approved the $8.5-billion merger of Reliance Industries and Walt Disney Co's Indian media assets, after the two parties offered to assuage concerns over their grip on broadcasting rights for cricket. The antitrust watchdog's decision paves the way for the creation of India's largest broadcasting empire in terms of reach and financial muscle. The CCI's announcement came on the eve of RIL's annual general meeting.

Announced six months ago, the merger deal reportedly faced intense regulatory scrutiny. And the green signal has come after the parties proposed certain modifications to the original transaction structure. The CCI stated that its approval is subject to the compliance of the changes proposed by the parties. It, however, did not divulge the details.

According to reports, Reliance and Disney proposed certain concessions, including assurances that they won't jack up ad rates for streamed cricket matches.

The merger will combine the entertainment businesses (along with certain other identified businesses) of Viacom18, part of Asia's richest billionaire Mukesh Ambani's Reliance group, and Star India Pvt Ltd, wholly owned by The Walt Disney Company.

The JV, expected to be completed by the end of this year or early 2025, will be controlled by the Reliance group with Ambani holding 63% stake. Disney will have the remaining 37%.

Nita Ambani will be the chairperson of the JV while former Disney executive Uday Shankar will come on board as vice-chairperson.

Food testing kits in public places soon

To be placed near food courts, malls; 3,400 such kits to be made available across city

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao on Wednesday said food testing kits will be available at public places near food courts and malls for people to test food quality.

According to health department sources, 3,400 such testing kits will be made available across the city of which 1,000 have already arrived.

Gundu Rao also distributed smart devices for food safety officials to facilitate on the spot recording of food samples collected during inspections, to enhance transparency and efficiency and to expedite the processing of permit and registration applications submitted online. The minister, however, did not elaborate on how these kits would be used, who would assist in the operation, or how the public would receive the results.

The minister said that the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) will select specific food items for testing every month from various selling points. In July, the department tested fruits and vegetables, and in August, it collected samples of khova, paneer, and cakes, with the analysis reports yet to come. In July, among the 385 samples of fruits and vegetables collected, 239 were deemed safe, while 27 were found unsafe owing to high pesticide residue levels and fungal growth.

From April till date, the department has surveyed 8,418 food samples with 96 cases registered in the courts. A fine of Rs 4.93 lakh was imposed on 132 establishments for failing to maintain hygiene standards. The department, during the drive, collected and analysed 211 samples of gobi manchurian. While 178 samples were found safe, 31 were deemed unsafe due to use of artificial colours like Sunset Yellow and Carmoisine. Additionally, 275 samples of kebabs were analysed, with 197 reported safe and 78 unsafe due to the presence of Sunset Yellow and Tartrazine.

The department plans to conduct special drives on August 30 and 31 to inspect hotels and restaurants in district and taluk centres.

Cases settled

So far, 106 cases have been settled in the courts, resulting in various sentences, including one-day jail in 34 cases and imprisonment ranging from five days to over six months in others.

A statewide drive will be conducted to collect and analyse samples of meat, fish, and eggs

Licence of KFC branch suspended for 14 days

RISHITA KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE Devanahalli branch of the popular fast-food chain KFC has had its licence suspended following an inspection by the state health department officials. The officials found that the outlet was using chemicals to purify used cooking oil. Known for its fried chicken, KFC is now under scrutiny as the health department investigates further to determine the extent of the violations.

As part of a special drive, officials from the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) collected samples of various items sold at KFC, including fried chicken, for analysis. The test results revealed the presence of 'synthetic magnesium silicate', a chemical not approved for use in food preparation.

An official from the department mentioned that synthetic magnesium silicate is used in industrial applications such as ceramics, rubber, and paint, and as an anti-caking agent in cosmetics and pharmaceuticals. It is harmful in food because it is not intended for consumption and can cause health issues if ingested. During the inspection, the department also found unhygienic conditions at the KFC Devanahalli branch. Following test results that confirmed the use of adulterated substances, the restaurant admitted to reusing the cooking oil multiple times to fry various items. The drive was initiated after Health Commissioner Randeep D received a tip-off and directed Karnataka FSSAI Commissioner Srinivas K to carry out an inspection. Following the inspection, the department suspended the branch's licence for 14 days.

Apart of KFC's branch, the inspection also led to the suspension of licences of several other establishments. Nupa Technologies, a poultry-focused startup and Mamta Agency, both in BBMP South, and Vishal Bar and Restaurant in Mysuru had their FSSAI licence suspended.

Left: A car stuck on the muddy road inside BDA's Arkavathy Layout 19th Block during the rain last week; residents use jelly stones to repair the road

With bricks, jelly stones, residents make road motorable

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

WITH no solution in sight for a motorable road in their BDA layout, residents of Arkavathy Layout 19th Block, are filling the potholes and other sunken portions of the muddy roads with bricks and jelly stones so that vehicles can be taken out of their homes.

There are 600 sites in the Chellakere village of Arkavathy Layout, and houses have been built on two-thirds of the sites.

Patilgouda Karadal, an office-bearer of Arkavathy Layout 19th Block Residents Association, told TNIE, "To ensure that roads can be used, residents have filled up potholes and openings on the road with big stones and bricks for bigger roads, and used jelly stones to cover smaller cross roads and potholes. We are doing this just to take our vehicles out of our layout."

The roads within the layout as well as those connecting it to the two main roads at Challakere Main Road and Babusapalaya are not tarred, he explained. "The wheels of vehicles get stuck badly in the muddy roads during heavy rain and we had a tough time extricating them."

Giving the background, he said a temporary tar road was laid by the BDA in June 2023. "We were told the BWSSB would come later to dig them, and lay water and sanitary pipelines and hence it was just a temporary one. For four months, we used the road in peace. Then, by September 2023, the BWSSB dug it up and laid the pipelines and left. When we ask them to set it right, we were told to approach the BDA only."

The BWSSB dug up the road and laid the pipelines and left. When we ask them to set it right, we were told to approach the BDA. Multiple visits have been made to the Authority's head office, to no avail

Patilgouda Karadal, Arkavathy layout residents association

Multiple visits have been made to the Authority's head office, to no avail, he explained.

Another site owner Gopinath said that he was yet to build his house in the site he has been allotted. "The owners who are already residing there, are facing a nightmare. We buy BDA sites as the documents are genuine and litigation free. But we never expected to find ourselves in a situation like this," he said. "We have no clue whom to approach and how to get a road in our area. We have tried all options," he added.

Residents also said that KR Puram MLA Byrathi Basavaraju had assured them the issue would be addressed, but it remained an empty assurance, they allege.

9 from state to represent Karnataka in France event

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

NINE students from Karnataka have been selected to represent India at the 47th World Skills Competition, scheduled to be held in Lyon, France, from September 10 to 15. The World Skills Competition, known as the Olympics of vocational skills, is the largest global event dedicated to vocational education and skill excellence. Of the nine selected participants, five are from Bengaluru urban, while four participants are from Hassan, Mandya, Tumakuru and Dakshina Kannada.

This year's competition will feature over 1,000 participants under the age of 22, competing in more than 61 skill categories. The World Skills Competition, organised once every two years, sees participation of more than 85 countries.

The Karnataka Skill Development Corporation (KSDC) announced the selection of the individuals, who recently met Medical Education and Skill Development Minister Dr Sharan Prakash Patil, before their departure to France. The minister encouraged the students to make the most of the prestigious opportunity and to bring honour to the state and the nation.

The select students are currently enrolled in ITI, diploma and engineering courses in various regions of Karnataka.

The National Skill Development Corporation (NSDC) conducted the India skills competition to identify and train candidates who will now represent India at the World Skills Competition. Karnataka achieved the second place in the national-level competition held in New Delhi from May 15 to 19.

Got positive response from BMRCL: Official

AARVEE Associates Architects Engineer and Consultants Pvt Limited is conducting the feasibility study that may take six months to complete. The Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs (MoHUA) has directed the Tamil Nadu government to prepare a feasibility report. "The feasibility report was supposed to be prepared by BMRCL initially. However, with Tamil Nadu showing keen interest in the project, Bengaluru Metro did not go ahead with it. MoHUA has now asked Tamil Nadu to prepare the feasibility report," sources told TNIE.

"Hosur is just 39km from Bengaluru. With good roads and less traffic compared to Bengaluru, the metro connectivity will further boost the economic prospects of Hosur. Bengaluru will face a tough competition from Hosur," a source told TNIE.

On the possibility of Karnataka opposing it, a source in Chennai said, "We are aware of the political and economic implications of the project. Hence, we approached MoHUA, which is the parent body for all Metro rail networks in the country, and asked it to get involved at the initial stage of the project."

T Archunan, Director (Projects), CMRCL, said, "We received a positive response from BMRCL for our presentation. BMRCL will discuss it with the Karnataka government. After they give us the nod, we will go ahead with the DPR."

On the project cost and funding, Archunan said, "It would be Rs 300 crore per km. We will fund the stations to be built in our state (seven). BMRCL should take care of the stations within its limits."

He said the project will benefit both TN and Karnataka as Bengaluru is one of the fastest growing cities in the country.

"We planned only a 20-km line initially with Hosur bus terminal being the terminating station. Since it would become congested, we decided to extend it by three more km up to Elcot IT Park," he said.

Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar was not reachable for his comments.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

29TH August : Cancerian alignments are strong today, which means that home and family come first. Some of us are concerned with older relations, some with younger, but the overall pattern favours selflessness. If all of us put others first then we will all be the winners.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Everything I've written about your sign this week holds for today - only much more so. So, let me remind you of the vital importance of clear thought, sensible discussion and open lines of communication in absolutely everything, whether your concerns are intensely personal or public and professional.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
There's no time like the present for sorting out financial problems and claiming the prosperity that you so richly deserve. Work out spending and saving plans over the next couple of days and share your ideas with partners once you've made your mind up.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Today's lunar position indicates a time when you may hide yourself away and rest, recharging your batteries in readiness for the coming battles and victories. To do this, though, you may need to duck some of your responsibilities!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
If tensions erupt, they may be difficult to control, mainly because the issues will be obscured behind a fog of confusion and misunderstanding. Tread warily, though, and you'll easily dodge such pitfalls. And, remember, by anticipating the future you can change it to your advantage.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Challenging lunar aspects advise you not to count on certain transactions being finalised on time. A brief hiatus may actually do you good, allowing you to get on and complete the preliminaries or tie up loose ends. A delay is as good as a rest.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Listen to reason and accept that partners also wish to resolve joint problems. Soon you may expect to receive thanks for past efforts, or plaudits for your more successful endeavours. Such appreciation is no more than you deserve. It will certainly provide a pleasant boost to your confidence.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The Moon now inaugurates a new three-month period of success and fulfilment, at least for all Librans who are capable of looking on the bright side. Specific areas which will benefit include everything to do with travel, education or the law. It's all a question of tuning in to the larger picture.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Your sign has stronger associations with money than many of the others, and I believe that, after today, you will begin to feel your business sensibilities stirring. Emotionally your passions will be more alert - you'll be looking for a challenge in a relationship.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Those of you with major schemes on the go, whether personal or professional should reach a satisfactory turning-point. In love, you'll prefer the company of old and tested companions to new excitement. You have much to learn from people who have already had the experiences which are now coming your way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It looks as if your work or similar responsi-bilities are about to increase drastically. On the whole, this will be a welcome development even though you may be taken aback by the rate of change. Yet, there does seem to be a great deal happening at the moment which is taking you on to a more positive personal course.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Over the next couple of days the powerful and emotional Moon will come to your aid, enabling you to break any deadlocks and shift any obstacles, even those which seemed insurmountable until not so long ago. It's strange how quickly circumstances change when you're looking the other way.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Those of you aiming for domestic improvements will find events over the next few days helpful and reassuring, although if major schemes, including a move of home, are on the agenda, there seem to be few signs of real, solid, tangible movement just yet.

Opportunities for growth

Uttarakhand steers ahead towards a promising pathway to economic empowerment, social justice, and growth

The implementation of a Uniform Civil Code (UCC) in Uttarakhand presents a significant opportunity for economic empowerment and growth.

One of the foremost advantages of the UCC is the simplification of legal procedures related to property and inheritance. Currently, different religious communities in India follow their laws, leading to a complex legal landscape. This complexity can create ambiguities and disputes, deterring investment and economic activities. With the UCC in place, all citizens in Uttarakhand will follow the same set of rules. This clarity will boost investor confidence and encourage both domestic and international investments in the region.

Empowering women: Bridging the gender gap

The UCC also holds the potential to significantly empower women economically. In many personal laws, women have traditionally been at a disadvantage regarding inheritance and property rights. The UCC, by providing equal rights to all individuals, irrespective of gender, can rectify these historical injustices.

Empowering women in this way is not only a matter of social justice but also an economic imperative, as it can lead to higher household incomes, improved economic productivity, and overall economic growth.

Economic empowerment: From equality to prosperity

Entrepreneurs and businesses will benefit from standardised laws, reducing the time and costs involved in legal compliance. This can make Uttarakhand an appealing destination for new businesses and startups, encouraging a thriving entrepreneurial environment. Simplified legal processes and decreased administrative obstacles can boost economic activity, job creation, and innovation in the state.

Furthermore, the Uniform Civil Code (UCC) can contribute to social harmony and cohesion, which are crucial for maintaining a stable economic environment. A more harmonious society creates an environment that is favourable for economic activities, as it promotes trust, cooperation, and a sense of community. This stability can also attract more tourists, investors, and businesses to Uttarakhand.

Uttarakhand stands to gain significantly in terms of economic development and improved quality of life for its citizens and a promising pathway to economic empowerment and growth.

Uniform Civil Code: Promoting equality

With the Uniform Civil Code, CM Pushkar Singh Dhami led Uttarakhand government has taken significant strides towards promoting equality and ensuring equal rights for all its citizens

Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami led government, with the vision of bringing uniformity in the society by providing same set of laws regarding marriage, divorce, land, property and inheritance to all people of Uttarakhand - irrespective of their faith - has taken the initiative to implement Uniform Civil Code in the Himalayan state. With CM Dhami announcing to implement UCC before November 9 – the state foundation day – Uttarakhand is on path of becoming the first state of the country, since Independence, to implement UCC. The law that intends to increase social harmony, promote gender justice and empower women, is in compliance with the provisions of Article 44 of the Constitution.

UNIFIED LAW, UNIFIED GROWTH

Uttarakhand's initiative to implement the UCC marks a significant step towards realising the constitutional mandate of equal rights for all. The state's leadership has recognised that diverse personal laws can perpetuate inequalities and impede social justice. By adopting the Code, Uttarakhand aims to streamline its legal system, ensuring all citizens are subject to the same laws and thus fostering a more inclusive and equitable society.

TIMELINE TO THE HISTORIC BILL

The bill was introduced in the state legislative assembly on Feb 6 and was passed on Feb 7 during a special session of the Uttarakhand assembly. A nine-member panel drafted rules on Feb 10. Gurmit Singh, Uttarakhand governor, referred the bill sent by the state government to President Murmu for her approval, which she approved on March 11. This makes Uttarakhand the first state in the country to implement the UCC. Pushkar Singh Dhami, chief minister, Uttarakhand, declared it as a historic day and stated that his state will implement the UCC before State Foundation Day (November 9).

PICS: DIPR, UTTARAKHAND GOVERNMENT

>> Narendra Modi, Prime Minister of India and Pushkar Singh Dhami, CM Uttarakhand

The proposed law has 392 sections divided into four parts and seven chapters providing equal rights to women in marriage, divorce, alimony, and inheritance of property, proscribes certain kinds of relationships, bans polygamy, sets the marriageable age for men and women (21 years and 18 years respectively), and makes registration of marriages mandatory

ENSURING EQUAL RIGHTS TO WOMEN AND CHILDREN

One of the primary benefits of UCC is the promotion of gender equality. UCC would eliminate disparities and gender biases, ensuring that women have equal rights to property and inheritance, regardless of their religion.

The UCC also promises to uphold children's rights by standardizing adoption laws. Currently, different religious communities have varying practices regarding adoption, with some not recognising it at all. The UCC would establish a uniform legal framework, guaranteeing that all children have the same rights to a family environment, irrespective of their background.

PROMOTING SOCIAL HARMONY

In a diverse state like Uttarakhand, where different religious and ethnic communities coexist, the UCC would reinforce the principle that all citizens are equal before the law, thus promoting a more harmonious and integrated society.

SIMPLIFYING LEGAL SYSTEM

The implementation of a Uniform Civil Code (UCC) would simplify the legal system in Uttarakhand. The presence of multiple personal laws complicates legal proceedings and can result in conflicting judgments. UCC would establish a single legal framework for all civil matters, making the judicial process more streamlined and efficient.

ECONOMIC BENEFITS

Uniform civil laws can have positive economic implications. By ensuring that property rights are clear and consistent, a UCC can create a more predictable environment for economic activities. This legal clarity can encourage investments and economic development, contributing to the overall growth of the state. Additionally, by securing women's property rights, UCC would empower women economically, allowing them to participate more fully in economic activities.

As Uttarakhand leads the way, it sets a precedent for other states to follow, bringing India closer to the constitutional ideal of equality for all.

"I congratulate Uttarakhand government on the remarkable progress achieved in the last few years. This has been made possible by sustained policy push and focus on key sectors such as tourism and renewable energy. Alongside, the state has made significant strides in infrastructure development, setting new benchmarks for sustainable growth. Uttarakhand's commitment to harnessing its natural resources and promoting tourism has not only bolstered its economy but also showcased its potential on the global stage. I applaud the state's dedication to inclusive development and look forward to its continued success in the years ahead.

Narendra Modi,
Prime Minister

WHAT UCC AIMS

- Provide security and empowerment to weak, poor, and sensitive section of society.
- Connect women, children, youth, and the elderly of every section with the mainstream of development.
- Promote the feeling of unity, integrity, and nationalism through a uniform law.
- Encourage daughters and sons for higher education by increasing the age of marriage.
- Create a prosperous society by ending evil practices that have been going on for years.
- Eliminate discrimination between son-daughter and man-woman by giving equal rights to people of all communities.

Benefits of a Uniform Civil Code for Uttarakhand's judicial system

Uttarakhand's initiative to implement the UCC is a significant step towards legal simplification, promising numerous benefits for the state's judicial system. Read to know more...

The concept of a Uniform Civil Code (UCC) has long been a subject of discussion in India, aiming to replace the personal laws of various religious communities with a common set of rules applicable to all citizens. One of the primary advantages of the UCC is the simplification of legal processes. Currently, personal laws in India vary significantly among different religious communities, leading to complexities and inconsistencies in the legal system. For instance, laws governing marriage, divorce, inheritance, and adoption differ for different communities.

By introducing UCC, Uttarakhand aims to establish a single, cohesive legal framework that applies to all citizens. This uniformity will streamline legal procedures, reduce ambiguities, and enhance the efficiency of the judicial process.

Legal reforms and social progress

In a country where we have more than 5 crore pending court cases, the UCC will facilitate quicker resolution of legal disputes. With a standardised set of laws, courts can process cases more swiftly, as judges will no longer need to interpret varying personal laws. This will significantly reduce the backlog of cases and ensure timely delivery of justice. For instance, disputes over inheritance and property rights, which often involve complex interpretations of personal laws, can be resolved more expediently under the UCC. This efficiency will not only benefit the judiciary but also provide relief to citizens who often endure prolonged legal battles.

PIC: DIPR, UTTARAKHAND GOVERNMENT

The Uniform Civil Code (UCC) brings about a significant benefit by promoting equality before the law. The implementation of UCC will eliminate discrepancies, ensuring that all citizens are treated equally under the law. Furthermore, laws about parental rights on property, the legitimacy of children born in live-in relationships, and equal property rights will prove beneficial in the long term. The UCC represents a move towards gender equality and non-discrimination, upholding the principles of the Indian Constitution and fostering social justice and inclusivity.

Economic growth through legal uniformity

The Uniform Civil Code aims to improve the transparency and predictability of legal outcomes. This will help citizens gain a clear understanding of their rights and obligations, leading to better compliance with the law. By adopting UCC, the state is aligning with the constitutional vision of uniformity and equality.

Anti-Copying Law boosts job creation in U'Khand

After the implementation of the Anti-Copying Law, it has proven to be a game changer in the state

The Anti-Copying Law has addressed several concerns like cheating, corruption, and favouritism head-on. By establishing stringent measures to prevent malpractises the state has ensured a level playing field for all aspirants. With the law in place, government examinations have become more transparent and fair.

POSITIVE EFFECTS

Boosting job creation: Ever since CM Dhami took charge, 15 thousand jobs have been created. And after the implementation of the Anti-Copying Law, Uttarakhand has conducted exams and more than 10,000 government positions have been filled, providing employment opportunities across various sectors. The implementation of this law has led to fewer exam delays and instances of malpractice, enabling the government to speed up the recruitment process.

Restoring public trust: Candidates now have greater confidence that their hard work and merit will be fairly evaluated, leading to more genuine and competitive participation in government exams. This renewed trust has also motivated more individuals to pursue government jobs, knowing that the selection process is unbiased and transparent.

PIC: DIPR, UTTARAKHAND GOVERNMENT

>> CM Pushkar Singh Dhami presiding over a meeting on Anti Copying Law

Long-term benefits: A transparent and fair recruitment system attracts more qualified and competent individuals to public service, ultimately enhancing the efficiency and effectiveness of the government workforce. This, in turn, leads to better governance and improved public services, contributing to the overall development of the state.

Future prospects: To sustain its effectiveness, it is crucial to ensure strict enforcement, maintain technological infrastructure to prevent malpractice, and continuously update the law to counter new cheating methods. Additionally, the government must focus on creating awareness among candidates about the law and its benefits to foster a culture of integrity and honesty. With continued efforts and commitment to upholding the principles of this law, Uttarakhand can look forward to sustained progress and development in the years to come.

Ensuring progress

UCC has some key features that will help the CM Dhami led government promote social justice and equality

KEY FEATURES OF THE UCC

Equal rights for husband and wife

Under the UCC, the rights and responsibilities of husband and wife are equal. This ensures that both partners have the same legal standing and obligations in their marriage.

Exclusion of scheduled tribes

The UCC thoughtfully excludes scheduled tribes from its scope, recognising the importance of preserving their distinct cultural practices and traditions. This respectful approach ensures that the unique identity and heritage are safeguarded.

Legitimacy of children born in live-in relationships

Children born during a live-in relationship are granted legitimacy under the UCC. These children are entitled to all the rights of a biological child, ensuring that they are not disadvantaged or stigmatised. This provision protects the welfare and rights of all children, promoting their acceptance in society.

Equal property rights

The UCC provisions equal property rights for sons and daughters across all religious communities. This ensures that inheritance laws are fair and non-discriminatory, empowering women with the same economic rights and opportunities as men.

Uniform marriage age

The UCC standardises the minimum age for marriage across all religions, setting it at 21 years for boys and 18 years for girls.

Mandatory registration for live-in relationships

To provide legal recognition and protection to live-in relationships, the UCC mandates their registration. This ensures that partners have clear legal rights and responsibilities.

Equal rights on divorce

The UCC ensures equal rights for both husband and wife, guaranteeing fair dissolution of marriage with equitable treatment.

Mandatory marriage registration

All marriages to be registered within a stipulated time. This mandatory registration helps maintain accurate records and provides legal clarity and protection to married couples.

Equality for men and women of all religions and sects

The UCC ensures equal rights for individuals of all religions and sects, thus fostering inclusivity and eradicating gender and religious-based discrimination.

Anti-Copying Law: A bold step towards recruitment integrity

The new law underscores the state government's commitment to establish a fair and just recruitment system. Anti-Copying Law addresses the same

In a significant step to uphold the integrity of education and discourage misconduct in competitive exams, the Anti-Copying Law has been implemented in Uttarakhand. This new law entails strict penalties, including the potential for life imprisonment, for individuals involved in or aiding cheating.

Anti-Copying Law: A necessary reform

The integrity of job examinations is crucial to maintaining a fair and merit-based recruitment process. However, with the increasing instances of cheating and unfair practices, the need for stringent measures has become more pressing than ever.

The Anti-Copying Law is designed to address this issue comprehensively by introducing stringent penalties for those who engage in cheating. It serves as a deterrent to potential offenders and reassures students, parents, and educators that the government is serious about creating a level playing field for all.

The introduction of an anti-copying law in job exams aims to address this challenge head-on, ensuring that only the most deserving candidates earn their positions. This law not only safeguards the credibility of the examination process but also reinforces the principles of justice and transparency in employment.

Chief minister Pushkar Singh led the Govt. ruling BJP government in Uttarakhand has brought the country's strictest anti-copying law and blamed previous governments for being slack in the matter. "Why has no one in the past tried to tighten the noose around the neck of the cheating mafia? I knew an attempt would be made to intimidate us after we decided to act against the mafia involved in the paper leak. I would like to know in whose government's tenure the accused were sent to jail," Dhami said.

PIC: DIPR, UTTARAKHAND GOVERNMENT

>> CM Dhami distributing appointment letters

CM Dhami further said, "It will also have provisions for disqualification of candidates guilty of using unfair means from appearing in any examination for 10 years and confiscation of property of those facilitating cheating," The Uttarakhand Competitive Examination (Measures for Prevention and Prevention of Unfair Means in Recruitment) Ordinance came into force after the approval given by the Governor on February 10.

Upholding the sanctity

The bill aims to ensure transparency and fairness in competitive exams in the Himalayan state. The state authorities clarified that the provisions shall remain applicable only in competitive exams and not in school and college exams.

Following actions punishable under this law:

- Any involvement in unfair exam processes may result in life imprisonment and a fine of up to Rs 10 crore for individuals, printing presses, service provider organizations, management systems, or coaching institutes.
- Conspiring with such entities can lead to life imprisonment and a fine of up to Rs 10 crore.

BJP Rajya Sabha member Sudhanshu Trivedi on Wednesday launched a fresh attack at the Congress over alleged irregularities in allocation of land to a trust run by the AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge's family in Karnataka, and said the state is witnessing one after another case of corruption since the party came to power

KHARGE'S FAMILY TRUST ALLOTTED LAND LEGALLY: CM

What about previous BJP government allocating hundreds of acres of land to Chanakya University, questions Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah here on Wednesday defended the allotment of five acres of land by KIADB to the Siddhartha Vihara Trust, which is run by AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge's family, saying it was done legally.

"We have done it as per law by taking prescribed money against the land. There is no need to make it an issue. BJP during its tenure allocated hundreds of acres to Chanakya University and RSS-allied organisations. What will they (BJP) say about that," he questioned.

"When Murugesh Nirani was minister, he got the land allotted to himself. Same was the case with many leaders who run sugar factories and educational institutions. One should go through the archives," he suggested. He alleged that BJP's intention is just to target the Kharge family.

"BJP people also allege at times that our family has assets worth Rs 50,000 crore. If we had that much, would Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah leave us free," he asked.

He claimed that Congress and Mallikarjun Kharge groomed Council Opposition Leader Chalavadi Narayaswamy, but he has been badmouthing the AICC president now. "As per his affidavit, Kharge has KIADB land allotted in Hoskote, Mysuru and Bidadi," he added.

'Will seek justice from finance panel'

Siddaramaiah said the government will appeal to the 16th Finance Commission to compensate the state as the previous finance commission handed it a raw deal in tax devolution.

"As the commission will meet me and finance department officials, we will assert that Karnataka has suffered the most with regard to tax devolution. Now we are getting 41 per cent and we will demand at least 50 per cent," he said. Siddaramaiah said the state will also put forth a demand to share the cess and surcharge on fuels which the Centre alone collects and keeps for itself. "The finance commission is a constitutional body and we hope it will give justice to the state," he added.

HDK LASHES OUT AT PRIYANK, DKS

Union minister HD Kumaraswamy on Wednesday stepped up his attack against RDPR Minister Priyank Kharge, saying the latter misused his official position to get 5 acres of land allotted to the family trust from KIADB. He said the Kharge family could have purchased private land, rather than misusing its official powers for personal gains. He said one scam has come out now, but more will tumble out soon. On Congress' 'Raj Bhavan Chalo', urging the governor to sanction prosecution against BJP and JDS leaders, he said Congressmen should go to Raj Bhavan, Rashtrapati Bhavan and then to the residences of Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi. He charged that Congress has racked up a dead issue. Kumaraswamy said he is ready to face the allegation against him and also any further charges that the Congress is planning to bring up against him. He alleged that Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar purchased a piece of land in the name of a dead person and got it denotified.

Allotment of site to Kharge's trust made in hurry, says Chalavadi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

LEADER of Opposition in the Legislative Council Chalavadi Narayanswamy on Wednesday said the state government hurriedly and in violation of rules allotted a 5-acre civic amenities site at the Aerospace Park in Bengaluru to a trust consisting of AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge and his family members, including minister Priyank Kharge.

The BJP leader told media persons in Bengaluru that there were many lapses in the allotment of the site to the trust. The applications were scrutinised on March 4, a meeting under the chairmanship of Industries Minister MB Patil on March 5 took the decision and from March 6, the allotment letters were issued, he said. "Why was it all done in such a hurry and what was the reason behind it?" he questioned.

He said many people were not even aware of the notification issued for the allotment of the CA sites as only 14 days were given to submit the applications and the process was completed in a hurry. "This is the biggest blunder in KIADB's history," he said.

Chalavadi said the principal secretary to the social welfare department had written to the state government about the department's plans to construct a skill development centre to train youth and asked for 5 acres of land. The government department was not given the land to train youth, while it was given to a private trust, he said.

As many as 71 others who were allotted land under the SC/ST quota at the Aerospace Park have not been given land since 2022, though they have paid the first installment. "Who will give justice to them," he questioned.

Explaining alleged irregularities in the allotment of CA sites to various individuals in KIADB industrial areas in the state, he said pieces of land have been allotted to a three-star hotel and for the construction of apartments, while three allotments have been made for the same address in Vijayapura.

The Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB) should have auctioned the CA sites and by not doing so, it lost around Rs 500-600 crore. The notification must be quashed and the sites auctioned, he said.

The market value of each acre of land allotted to Kharge's trust is around Rs 15-20 crore, he said. It is a case of nepotism and Priyank Kharge should resign, he added.

He also warned the minister against making personal attacks against him.

HIGH COURT TO RESUME MUDA CASE HEARING TODAY

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Bengaluru

WITH the Karnataka High Court on Thursday set to resume hearing Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's petition challenging Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot's sanction to prosecute him in the MUDA case, opposition BJP and JDS plan to harp on the outcome in the court, even as Congress circles are rife with rumours that there could be a change of guard.

Within Congress, there is talk that the chief minister could be changed based on the outcome of the high court hearing. What led to the rumours is the fact that Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi and AICC general secretary KC Venugopal held one-on-one talk with Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara during the latter's visit to New Delhi on August 23. But a Congress leader said, "It seems to be just a casual talk and nothing to do with changing the CM. We will back Siddaramaiah as CM, regardless of the outcome in the court."

But still, the party is abuzz with the talk that Parameshwara, PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar or AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge could be asked to step in if Siddaramaiah has to resign if an FIR is registered against him.

Parameshwara on Wednesday said, "I am a disciplined soldier of the party and I honestly did the task assigned to me by the party. It is true that Rahul called me separately and told me what he had to say about the party. He did not tell me anything else. I may be a senior in the party, but that question did not arise. I will not reply about that (running for CM post)."

He hoped that the HC will not consider the governor's decision as there is no material evidence against the CM, who has not signed any documents related to the case.

Illegal transfers in IDBI: CID starts probe

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bagalkot

THE Criminal Investigation Department (CID) has started its investigation into the alleged illegal transfer of Rs 6.08 crore from the accounts held by five government departments in IDBI Bank.

The alleged fraud was detected after Rs 2.47 crore, deposited by the Tourism Department, was found to have been illegally transferred. This prompted officials to file a complaint on June 11. Subsequent investigations revealed that funds belonging to the Minority Department, Textile and Handloom Department, Panchayat Raj Engineering Department and the Backward Classes Welfare Department were also illegally transferred from their respective IDBI Bank accounts. The heads of these five departments filed separate complaints with the city's Cyber, Economic and Narcotics (CEN) police station.

Superintendent of Police Y Amarnath Reddy formed a special team, led by Circle Police Inspector M Nagareddy, to investigate the case. The investigation led to the arrest of 21 individuals, including nine staff members from IDBI Bank and two government officials.

After the case was found to be of a more serious nature, it was handed over to the CID.

A CID team arrived in the city on Tuesday, collected documents from the CEN police station, and met Inspector General of Police Vikaskumar in Belagavi. The CID has formed specialised teams under the leadership of senior officers to carry out department-specific investigations.

Sources said that so far, Rs 4.79 crore out of the illegally transferred Rs 6.08 crore has been recovered and redeposited into respective departmental accounts.

SUGAR FACTORY ROW

Yatnal gets party backing in KSPCB fight

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

STATE BJP leaders have extended their support to party MLA and former Union minister Basangouda Patil Yatnal, who is protesting against the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) for refusing to allow his sugar factory in Kalaburagi to resume operations, despite court orders.

Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka said the state government and the board are not allowing the factory to reopen, despite the HC order. The corruption in the pollution control board is rampant and the officials were acting on the directions of their political bosses to harass Yatnal, he alleged.

The KSPCB is not granting permission to Yatnal's sugar factory in an attempt to politically finish him, said former CM and MP Basavaraj Bommai.

Speaking to the media after participating in the protest led by Yatnal, against the injustice by the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board, Bommai said law and justice have died in the state, and politics of hatred is being practised. Yatnal established the sugar factory in accordance with the law, but last year, the pollution control board did not grant permission to it. He approached the court, which ordered the factory to be reopened within four weeks. However, the board is now citing technical reasons and refusing to grant permission, he added.

The MP alleged that the KSPCB is biased in granting permission to several other sugar factories, while discriminating against Yatnal's factory. It has also granted permission to units that violated the law. They would not let this issue rest and would continue to fight. Thousands of farmers are dependent on this factory, and this year, a large amount of sugarcane has been cultivated in that region, so the factory needs to be opened. The government talks about bringing industry to North Karnataka on one hand, but engages in such politics on the other, he added. BJP state president BY Vijayendra also slammed the government.

WILL REVIEW AND TAKE ACTION, SAYS KHANDRE

BENGALURU: Forest, Environment and Ecology Minister Eshwar B Khandre on Wednesday said the decision to grant operational consent to Siddasiri Souharda Cooperative Sugar Factory, belonging to MLA Basangowda Patil Yatnal in Chincholi, Kalaburagi, will be reviewed and action will be taken accordingly. Recently, the high court had granted operational consent to the factory. Khandre claimed that the factory had installed a boiler without permission, and though a waste management unit was under construction, tonnes of sugarcane was being milled in violation of rules. Hence, the KSPCB had taken action, he said. As the factory was expanding its capacity without prior permission and was allegedly operating illegally, the Central environment department had imposed a fine of Rs 1.58 crore, Khandre said, adding that there was nothing wrong in the decision that was taken. He asserted that there was no political malice at play. On the allegation that the factory had crushed tonnes of cane without prior permission to produce methanol and was discharging effluents into the water bodies, Khandre said it is a violation of the Water Act and the Environment Protection Act. Chip lab initiative big hit; Gujarat, TN keen on it: Priyank

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MINISTER for IT and BT Priyank Kharge on Wednesday said that Karnataka's Semiconductor Fabless Accelerator Lab (SFAL) to incubate semiconductor startups is a successful initiative and states such as Gujarat and Tamil Nadu are keen on replicating this "unique" model.

He told reporters here that SFAL-backed startups ABCRL, Calligo Technologies, and Morphing Machines have developed innovative technologies. The government has spent over Rs 27 crore on SFAL, the centre of excellence, which has helped over 95 companies and incubated 43. "This is a niche area. Maybe, only eight countries are using it and our initiative has helped more than 200 innovations. SAFL-incubated startups (about 25) raised around Rs 114 crore and have a combined valuation of Rs 500 crore. They created 800 highly skilled jobs," he said.

The government has approved SAFL 2.0 for the next five years. "Currently, India is the second-largest consumer of semiconductors globally. Our market size is expected to touch $64bn by 2026. Because of rapid adoption of technologies and penetration of networking technologies such as 5G, 6G and IOT, our electronics market consumption will be $400bn in 2025," Priyank said.

"Karnataka alone can propel the country to become a product nation from being a service nation. It is future ready and concentrating on skilling and incubation for innovation. This is not our demand, but our need. Because 70% of design talent is in Karnataka. When we went to America, we were proud to hear from them that every chip that goes into the market has a Kannadiga writing a code for it," he said.

He claimed that SFAL, which was initiated by him in 2023 as a collaboration between the state government and industry stakeholders, produced highly skilled engineers who got a salary package of Rs 1.5 lakh per month.

Chip to alert vehicle health

AB Circuits and Research Labs (ABCRL) has designed a chip that sends alerts on the health of vehicles, especially the alignment of wheels, said company's co-founder and CEO chief Tushar Bhattacharya. It will also ensure that the tyres are in good condition. Initially, two-wheelers and four-wheelers will have this chip. It will later be installed in multi-axle vehicles. The KSRTC and BMTC can benefit from this technology, he said and claimed to have received an order for 15 lakh chips.

ABCRL is one of the 10 startups set up under the prestigious Chips to Startup (C2S) scheme of the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology. CEO of SFAL Sridhar and IT, BT secretary Ekroop Caur were present.

'Running out of big brands'

"THE IML companies have slowed their indenting since the issuance of the draft notification on the proposed cut in Additional Excise Duty (AED) on IML in higher slabs in June. They have been indenting only what they are confident to sell because no one wants to pay higher AED. They have been waiting for the notification on rationalisation of AED, which was expected on July 1, but was delayed. Nobody wants to stock up," the sources said.

Some leading liquor retailers (CL2) in the city said that their IML stocks have gone down to 30%. "We are running out of popular brands of alcohol and are forced to push other IML brands to customers," said one of them.

On August 23, the government issued two notifications – on rationalisation of AED on IML slabs in higher segments for retailers and on minimum declared price for distillers below which they are not allowed to invoice. The 18 excise slabs of IML have been brought down to 16. The notification, however, has not mentioned the MRP of alcohol brands.

HC junks SIT's appeal against Revanna's bail

BENGALURU: The Karnataka High Court on Wednesday dismissed a petition filed by the SIT questioning the bail granted by the special court to try cases against sitting and former MPs and MLAs to JDS MLA HD Revanna, who is an accused in a case regarding the abduction of a rape victim, involving his son, former MP Prajwal Revanna. Justice M Nagaprasanna confirmed the bail granted to Revanna by dismissing the petition filed by the SIT probing the alleged sexual assault cases involving Prajwal. The SIT questioned the bail order dated May 13 in connection with the case registered with the KR Nagar police station in Mysuru district by the son of a victim. Meanwhile, the court granted bail to the other six accused in the case -- HK Sujay, HN Madhu, ST Keerthi, Sathish Babu aka Sathish Babanna, KA Rajgopal, and one another. The special court dismissed their bail petitions on June 11. Hence, they approached the high court. ENS

Committed to implement internal reservation: CM

BENGALURU: Chief Minister Siddaramaiah reiterated that he is committed to introduce internal reservation for Scheduled Castes. "One need not have to be apprehensive about this and we have already welcomed the Supreme Court's decision," he said. A delegation led by ministers KH Muniyappa, RB Thimmapur and former minister H Anjaneya met the CM on Wednesday, where they discussed implementation of internal reservation for SCs. Siddaramaiah told them that he is committed to implement the same, adding that he is going to discuss the Supreme Court's order with legal experts and also leaders from the community to take a decision. "Even the Scheduled Castes have unitedly accepted the implementation of internal reservation," he stated. Siddaramaiah said he, the Congress and the state government have always taken a stand on social justice. "People have realised that there is a need for internal reservation for better distribution of reservation," he added. "We are committed and will implement it" he added.

ED raids house, office of Nagendra's relative in Ballari

BALLARI: An Enforcement Directorate (ED) team of six officials on Wednesday raided the house and office of a relative of former minister and sitting MLA of Ballari Rural B Nagendra. After Nagendra's arrest, this is the second raid by ED in Ballari. Sources confirmed that ED officials took some important files from the raided places. Nagendra was arrested over an alleged illegal transfer of funds from the Schedule Tribe (ST) Welfare Corporation to other bank accounts. ED arrested Nagendra, who is in judicial custody, in July. A senior official in Ballari said the ED team along with central security forces conducted the raid. Additional forces from the police too were provided to ED officials. "Last time, four places in Ballari, including Nagendra's house and office, were raided," he added. ENS

JUDICIAL CUSTODY OF DARSHAN, 9 OTHERS EXTENDED

Darshan subjected to marathon grilling since Wednesday morning; FIR registered against prison officials

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ACTOR Darshan Thoogudeepa and nine other inmates in the Bengaluru Central Prison in Parappana Agrahara who were expected to be moved to different jails across the state were not shifted on Wednesday. It is expected to be done in the early hours of Thursday, sources said.

Meanwhile, Darshan was subjected to marathon interrogation since Wednesday morning in connection with two cases registered against him inside the prison. In both cases, Darshan is accused number 1. One of the cases is related to luxury treatment for Darshan inside jail, and another is in connection with his video call on a mobile phone call in the jail. An FIR has been registered against three prison officials, who were suspended on Tuesday, for facilitating Darshan.

Darshan, rowdy-sheeters Wilson Garden Naga, Kulla Seena, Darshan's manager Nagaraju, Dharma, Sathya and the three suspended prison officials were questioned by the investigating officers. The actor was questioned by police inspectors attached to Begur and Hulimavu police stations. The Electronic City subdivision Assistant Commissioner of Police (ACP) and his team questioned the remaining accused. The officers also conducted mahazars of the spots where Darshan was sitting on the lawn and his room where the video call was made. The officers had to question and record the actor's statements before he was shifted to Ballari jail.

Darshan reportedly told the officers that he does not know the person who was on video call, and spoke to him out of courtesy after Dharma gave him the phone. The photos of Darshan are said to have been taken while he was watching a cricket match with Wilson Garden Naga and two others.

Darshan shouted at a suspended prison staff for putting him in more trouble by allowing mobile phones on the jail premises.

The mobile phone that was used to make a video call is yet to be recovered. The phone was with Dharma, the second accused in the complaint registered for making the video call. Dharma is said to have called Sathya, son of another notorious rowdy sheeter Dhanraj of Byadarahalli. Dharma, while celebrating his birthday, had handed the phone to Darshan to talk to Sathya.

The mobile phone used to take photos of Darshan was reportedly recovered from another notorious rowdy sheeter Velu. Darshan was watching a cricket match played by the associates of rowdy Wilson Garden Naga when Velu allegedly took the photos from his cell. Velu's brother, rowdy- sheeter Kannan, is also in jail. Naga, Velu, Kannan and 15 others had murdered another rowdy-sheeter Mahesh within minutes of him coming out of the Bengaluru prison. After the photos went viral, Naga berated Velu for taking the photos. Velu had sent the photos to his wife and they went viral later. Darshan has told the officers that he was returning to his barrack after meeting Rachita Ram when Naga called him and offered tea and cigarettes.

CUSTODY EXTENDED TILL SEPTEMBER 9

Meanwhile the judicial custody of all 17 accused arrested in connection with the kidnap and murder of 33-year-old Renukaswamy of Chitradurga has been extended till September 9. This is the fifth time the judicial custody of all the accused was extended. The accused were produced before the Judge of a city based court through video conference. Of the accused, Pradush, Nagaraj and Lakshman requested the court not to shift them to different jails due to personal reasons. However their request was turned down.

COURT RESERVES BAIL PLEA OF PAVITHRA FOR AUG 31

Bengaluru: The City Civil and Sessions Court on Wednesday reserved the bail application of the accused number one in the Renukaswamy murder case, Pavithra Gowda for August 31. The judge reserved the order after hearing arguments from both sides. Special Public Prosecutor Prasanna Kumar argued that Gowda should not be granted bail as the case is still under investigation. He stated that the available evidence shows that Darshan and Pavithra Gowda entered the shed in a black Scorpio car, and that the accused committed the crime. Meanwhile, Senior Advocate Tommy Sebastian argued that Pavithra Gowda had no role in the case and should be granted bail.

Trolley operator killed in KIA parking lot

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 45-year-old trolley staff member at the Kempegowda International Airport, who allegedly had an illicit affair, was murdered by the husband of his paramour at the airport parking lot near Terminal 1. The Kempegowda International Airport police have arrested the accused.

The deceased has been identified as Ramakrishna and the accused as Ramesh, both residents of Madhugiri in Tumkur district.

The police said that around 6.30 pm, Ramesh attacked Ramakrishna with a knife, slashing his neck near the airport parking lot. The police detained him soon after.

According to the preliminary investigation, Ramesh on Tuesday quarrelled with Ramakrishna over the latter's involvement in their lives. On Wednesday, Ramesh came to the airport in a BMTC bus with a knife concealed in a college bag, and killed Ramakrishna.

50-yr-old misleads cops after killing second wife, held

Bengaluru: A 50-year-old man, who tried to mislead the police after killing his second wife, was arrested by the Bagalur police. The accused killed his wife by attacking her with an iron rod. He then filed a complaint with the police, stating that his wife had been killed by unidentified people. The police who had doubts over his claim subjected him to questioning and he reportedly confessed to killing his wife as he suspected her fidelity. The accused, Mehboob Pasha, hails from Chittoor district in Andhra Pradesh. The victim, Mumtaz, was murdered at a guava farm in Bagalur on Saturday. Pasha was staying with Mumtaz at Razaksab Palya in Bagalur. On Sunday, he went to the police station, and claimed that he had gone to a function at his relative's house in Kolar the previous day. He told the police that when he called his wife, she did not respond.

Cab driver kills wife, attempts suicide

Bengaluru: A cab driver, who suspected his wife of having an illicit relationship, killed her on Tuesday night. After killing her, he attempted suicide by consuming poison, but survived. The Kengeri police arrested the accused. The deceased has been identified as Navyashree (28), a dance instructor, and the accused as Kiran Kumar (31), a cab driver. The couple, residents of Arunachala Layout in Kengeri, were married for three years. The police said that Kiran suspected his wife of having an affair. On Tuesday around 11.30 pm, he entered the house using a spare key. An argument ensued, which escalated into him stabbing his wife. Navyashree's friend, who was staying in the house and was asleep, found her friend lying dead on Wednesday morning. She swiftly alerted the police, who rushed to the spot. The police arrested Kumar, who had consumed poison. After receiving treatment at the hospital, he was taken into custody, the police said.

HL Mando Softtech and Partners Offer Pioneering Internship Experience

A leading automotive research and development Company, HL Mando Softtech India Pvt. Ltd. (a subsidiary of HL Mando, South Korea) has partnered with Kyungpook National University, South Korea and Christ University, Bengaluru for providing internship and corporate exposure at their Bengaluru office.

Seventeen engineering students from Kyungpook National University successfully completed their internship course during July 1st to 30th in the field of Automotive SW engineering. Throughout the internship, students learnt about CAN TX and RX Message implementation, introduction to AUTOSAR Framework, AUTOSAR RTE, communication and MCAL configuration utilising AUTOSAR, among other tasks under the guidance of designated mentor.

On the last day, the closing ceremony was organised and the students gave final presentation. The ceremony was attended by Professors from Kyungpook National University and senior officials of HL Mando Softtech and Christ University. The students received certificate of internship completion coupled with mementos for their hard work and dedication toward a successful future in their career.

The partnership party, Christ University provided housing, meals, and transportation for the duration of the internship. In addition, HL Mando Softtech and Halla University, Korea, have partnered with Christ University for Halla International Pioneer (HIP) Programme to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the university.

Halla University collaborated with HL Mando Softtech India to draw in international students and to advertise three-weeks programme that combined short-term Korean language instruction with cultural immersion.

Students hoping for a worldwide learning experience and exposure will benefit from this as it will enrich their scholastic path. With this collaboration, HL Mando Softtech, India aims to create employment opportunities for the students of Christ University and seek more students to take advantage of these opportunities to build a magnificent career for themselves.

THE Chennai zone of the Enforcement Directorate has slapped a penalty of approximately Rs 908 crore on DMK Member of Parliament (MP) S Jagathrakshakan and his family members for alleged violations of the Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA), the agency said on Wednesday.

Properties worth Rs 89.19 crore, seized under FEMA in 2020, were also ordered to be confiscated, the ED said.

"This is an outcome of adjudication proceedings under the Act during which the violations were clearly proved after careful examination of the alleged violations vis-a-vis written replies filed by the noticees (the MP and his family members)," the directorate said.

The ED has charged the MP, his family members, and a related company of violating FEMA provisions in an investment of Rs 42 crore in a Singapore-based shell company Silver Park International Pte Ltd in 2017 made without the approval of the Reserve Bank of India and acquiring and holding of 90 lakh foreign shares.

They were also charged with FEMA violations regarding an investment of Rs 9 crore made by the MP in a Sri Lankan entity. Properties worth Rs 89.19 crore in the form of immovable assets such as agricultural land, plots and houses and movable properties like bank balances and shares were seized by the agency in 2020 when the investigation under Section 37A of FEMA was completed in the cases. However, this seizure order was later set aside by the Competent Authority (under the FEMA) in 2021. ED's appeal on this before the appellate tribunal is pending.

Meanwhile, after the investigation, ED proceeded to the next stage of filing of complaint under Section 16 of FEMA before the Adjudicating Authority, charging the noticees for the violations and also praying for confiscation of the properties worth Rs. 89.19 crore for which seizure order was issued in 2020. A show cause notice was issued to the noticees on December 22, 2021, after the complaint was taken into consideration.

Later, Jagathrakshakan and his family members filed writ petition in the Madras High Court challenging the complaint under Section 16 of FEMA when the seizure order based on the same facts was set aside by the Competent Authority.

On November 30, 2023, the HC ruled that the order passed by the Competent Authority on the seizure of assets would not interfere with the power of adjudication of the Adjudicating Authority. While the noticees appealed against this order, a division bench of the HC on July 23, 2024, set aside their writ appeals.

After this, adjudication proceedings under FEMA, which also considered written responses given by the MP and his family members, were completed. ED said the allegations have been proved and hence the penalty was levied.

Actor Mukesh to be axed from film policy panel

SHAN A S @T'Puram

AMID calls for the resignation of Malayalam actor and CPM MLA M Mukesh over the sexual misconduct allegations against him, the actor-politician is on his way out from a panel constituted to formulate cinema policy. Sources said the CPM state leadership is firm that no tainted individual should be part of the panel and that it's only a matter of time before his exit is made official.

M Mukesh

The move comes after several women activists and political organisations demanded that he be dropped from the panel. However, Mukesh will continue as an MLA for now.

Meanwhile, the special investigation team (SIT) probing the allegations of sexual harassment in Malayalam film industry will record the confidential statements of the complainants before a magistrate to ensure that they have evidentiary value, which will prove crucial during the trial.

The SIT has so far identified 16 incidents of harassment as alleged by several persons before the media and on social media platforms. The allegations are being verified, said police sources. They said the police have so far received eight formal complaints, with cases registered in two.

The SIT will record the testimonials of the complainants before a magistrate to rule out chances of their changing the statements during the trial stage and also to safeguard them from unwanted cross-examination.

In another development, the Museum police in Thiruvananthapuram on Wednesday registered a rape case against actor Siddique based on the complaint filed by a female actor. The case was registered after the woman mailed her complaint to the State Police Chief on Tuesday, alleging that Siddique had sexually assaulted her at a hotel in Thiruvananthapuram in 2016. Siddique has been booked for raping and threatening the actor.

FEFKA WELCOMES HEMA COMMITTEE REPORT

Welcoming the findings and recommendations of the Hema Committee report, the Film Employees Federation of Kerala (FEFKA) said in an official statement that the association considered the report an important document in the Malayalam film industry. "We urge the authorities to release the remaining pages of the report with names and details," stated FEFKA in a release.

Ensure probe of case, counter case by same IO, Karnataka HC tells govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court directed the Home Department to bring in an amendment to the Karnataka Police Manual to the effect that investigating the case and counter case of the same incident by two different investigating officers (IOs) is a violation of law which attracts departmental action against them.

The state has not implemented its own circular of 2013 to ensure the investigation of two cases of same crime by the same investigating officer, the state has to reissue the circular or bring an amendment to the Police Manual, Justice M Nagaprasanna said.

The court passed the order, while allowing partly a petition filed by Gajendra KM and others questioning the two investigations by two IOs into a single assault incident. The court directed the state to get the matter reinvestigated by the same IO within three months. The case was registered in January 2023.

The court stated that the apex court has observed that two challans are registered into the same incident, and both cannot be true. The SC observed that a same IO must investigate into a case and a counter case, the court said.

The high court stated the state's 2013 circular has remained only on paper. Ten years have passed and this court is coming across cases where a case and a counter case is still being investigated by two different IOs.

This results in grave injustice, all because of the callousness of the state in not implementing its circular. It has become necessary to direct the state to again issue a circular or bring necessary amendments to the Police Manual, the court said.

"The circular should ensue depicting that in the event different investigating officers investigate into a case and a counter case, those IOs would become answerable to a departmental action against those persons, who venture into appointing two IOs to investigate a case and a counter case, as the law is lucid the circular to implement the law is pellucid. Therefore, the state should henceforth ensure that a case and a counter case shall be investigated by the same IO," the HC said.

Kasturirangan report can't be implemented fully: Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BASED on the suggestions made by the cabinet sub-committee in a meeting on Wednesday, it was noted that the Karnataka government cannot implement the recommendations of the Kasturirangan Committee issued by the Union Government.

Speaking to the media, Forest, Environment, and Ecology Minister Eshwar B Khandre, who is also the chairman of the cabinet sub- committee said that the recommendations of the committee to notify 20,668 sqkm an eco-sensitive zone cannot be done. The State Government has already notified and protected 16,632 sq km in various forms, like sanctuaries, national parks, and eco-sensitive zones. There are 1,533 homes, villages, and other residential habitats in the remaining area. The rights and livelihood of people need to be protected, he said.

Khandre said the discussion and recommendations made during the cabinet sub-committee meeting will be conveyed to CM Siddaramaiah, and the cabinet will take a final decision, which will be conveyed to the Centre. States have time till the end of September to submit their replies. Also, the opinions of 10 Western Ghats district administrations in Karnataka have been elicited, and the same will be submitted to the CM, he added.

GNSS DATA BEING SUCCESSFULLY GENERATED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE multiple levels of data have been successfully generated by the Global Navigation Satellite System- Reflectometry (GNSS-R) instrument on the EOS-08 satellite, scientists and researchers from Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) said on Wednesday.

The raw data is being processed at the National Remote Sensing Centre (NRSC-ISRO) in Shadnagar, Hyderabad, using algorithms and data processing software developed by the Space Applications Centre (SAC-ISRO), Ahmedabad.

The GNSS-R represents a new mode of remote sensing. Signals from Global and Regional Navigation Satellite Systems, such as GPS and NavIC, are reflected off various earth surfaces, including oceans, farm lands and river bodies. These reflected signals are collected by a precision receiver onboard the satellite as it orbits the Earth at an altitude of 475 km. This system operates without dedicated transmitters and is shallow in resource consumption — requiring minimal size, weight and power. It can also scale up as a constellation of receivers for faster coverage, making this innovative remote-sensing mode highly useful, the release said.

The GNSS-R instrument, developed by the Space Applications Centre (SAC-ISRO), is India's first space-borne precision receiver. It collects ground- reflected GNSS signals and measures their power and other signal characteristics. These measurements are used to derive scientific information about the regions covered by the receiver, including soil moisture, surface inundation and ocean surface wind and wave measurements.

Delay- Doppler Maps (DDMs) are primary outputs from GNSS-R raw data processing. These DDMs are used to derive parameters such as reflectivity and Normalized Bistatic Radar Cross- Section (NBRCS), which are then used for the retrieval of various scientific parameters. While calibration and validation are ongoing, these results demonstrate the immense potential of this instrument for various scientific studies and applications, the release added.

All the science products are generated at SAC-ISRO using in-house developed algorithms. The first land data was collected over the Sahara Desert (North Africa) using a high-resolution mode of 1 km, which is significantly better than that of contemporary CYGNSS sensors. This data was processed to retrieve soil moisture at high resolution, and the results were found to be within the expected range. Another high-resolution land dataset was acquired over the Amazon Rainforest on August 21.

This data has been used to generate surface inundation masks along the specular reflection track, showing sensitivity even towards sub-kilometre river widths. The first ocean data was collected on August 19, over a region of the Pacific Ocean. This data was processed for the retrieval of wind speed and significant wave height, with all obtained values falling within the expected ranges.

'DPR ready for next five years'

THE authorities will tie-up with various organisations to find alternatives to the use of plastic items such as carry bags and to create awareness among the people visiting the places of worship in the region.

On trekking routes and forests, plastic bottles and other waste will be collected at entry and exit points. Bins will be placed at various places. Plastic waste collected at the vegetative traps and other places will be recycled with the establishment of Materials Recovery Facility (MRF) units in various places. "This initiative will help generate employment opportunities for the locals," said Dr Karikalan.

A Detailed Project Report (DPR) has been prepared for the next five years and it will be discussed at a meeting to be held in New Delhi on September 20. After this, tenders will be invited for various works, he said.

Jannu Gavade (in turban) poses along with the rescue team near Bommanahalli dam in Dandeli, Uttara Kannada district, early Wednesday

Man stuck on marooned island rescued in night op

AMIT S UPADHYE @Hubballi

A cattle grazer, who was stuck on an island in the Kali River in Uttara Kannada district after heavy discharge from the Supa dam, was rescued in a dramatic operation that started late on Tuesday night, and went on till early Wednesday.

District administration officials and expert swimmers from an adventure company ensured that the cattle grazer, Jannu Gavade, was rescued.

Earlier, Gavade's family was worried as he had not returned home till late in the evening. When they went looking for him, they found him crying for help on the island, which was surrounded by gushing waters.

On Tuesday, 10,000 cusecs of water was released from the Supa dam, and the Bommanahalli dam, which is downstream, too opened its gates after the water level rose. The Bommanahalli reservoir had sounded the alarm twice on Tuesday. But unaware of the warning, Gavade continued to graze his cattle on the island. Though dam authorities reduced the discharge, the water was still too deep to take up the rescue operation.

The administration sought the help of Manasa Adventures in Ganeshgudi, which sent 10 expert rafters. The group went in the raft to the island and brought Gavade back to safety early Wednesday morning.

BJP hits out at PU Dept for printing Jesus, Mary pics on sports certificates

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

THE BHARATIYA Janata Party on Wednesday strongly opposed pictures of Jesus and Mary on certificates distributed to winners at a taluk-level sports meet in Hanur.

The event was organised by the Pre-University Board, Chamarajanagar district in association with Christraj and St Mary's Pre-University colleges of Hanur and certificates were distributed on August 9.

The photos of certificates with the photos of Jesus and Mary have gone viral on social media. The opposition party has said it is objectionable as the event was organised by the government department.

The Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka took to X and said organising Ganesha festival or Krishna Janmashtami is branded as communalism. But is printing Jesus and Mary's photo on the certificate secularism, he asked. He warned that the people of the state will teach anti-Hindu government a lesson.

Nandini ghee for Tirumala laddus again

Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF) has resumed supplying Nandini ghee to Tirumala to make laddus. CM Siddaramaiah on Wednesday flagged off the tanker carrying Nandini ghee to Tirumala from Bengaluru. Between 2013-14 and 2021-22, over 5,000 tones of ghee was supplied to the temple to make laddus. Tirumala Tirupati Devast-hanams (TTD) had floated tenders for 350 tonnes of ghee for 2024-25. TTD had stopped buying ghee from KMF in 2023. In the past, KMF president Bhima Nayak had stated that TTD did not approve the price quoted by KMF.

NTTF, Magic Billion launch apprenticeship prog

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Nettur Technical Training Foundation (NTTF) has launched a transformative apprenticeship programme for youngsters in collaboration with Magic Billion and Germany-based IHK (Industrie-und Handelskammer). It was inaugurated on Wednesday by Deputy German Consular Annett Baessler along with NTFF leaders R Rajagopalan, BV Sudharshan and Basab Banerjee, who is also co-founder of Magic Billion, Nodia.

The programme offers students hands-on training in fields such as automotive mechatronics, electronics and cutting machine technology within top German companies. Participants will receive a German diploma after 3-3.5 years of training under the 'Learn and Earn' model, alternating between on-the-job experience and theoretical studies at German vocational centres.

To ensure students are fully prepared, NTTF and Magic Billion is providing 10 months of on-campus German language training and visa support. Over 100 students have already been shortlisted, with 70 receiving offers from prestigious German companies. Students are expected to depart for Germany between June and September 2025.

USE HEMA REPORT TO CORRECT COURSE, NOT WITCH-HUNT

THE storm unleashed by the Hema Committee report is getting stronger by the day. Emboldened by the report's release, several women are speaking up against sexual assault and harassment they have faced. The revelations by Bengali actor Sreelekha Mitra and Malayalam actor Revathy Sampath led to the resignation of two industry heavyweights—Kerala Chalachitra Academy chairman Ranjith and Association of Malayalam Movie Artists (AMMA) general secretary T Siddique. All other AMMA office bearers, including superstar Mohanlal, have also resigned. Meanwhile, more voices within the industry are demanding a fair probe into all the allegations in the report, signifying its deeper impact on the filmdom's collective psyche.

The report is a great starting point for course correction. Malayalam cinema can never be the same again—it can only be a more equal and decent workplace for both men and women. At the same time, the attempt by certain sections to paint the entire industry in darker shades is also not a useful approach. As actor Parvathy Thiruvothu rightly said, it is unfair to criticise the entire industry because of the report that is only trying to address the malaise. "We are good inside, which is why we are fixing it," she said.

The industry has already embarked on a path of change. More predators in Mollywood will undoubtedly be exposed. At the same time, it should not be turned into a witch-hunt. Levelling baseless allegations against industry members and settling personal vendetta using the current climate that favours opening up must not be encouraged. Hundreds of people depend on the film industry for their livelihood. All these course corrections should only result in making it a better place to work, and not end up destroying it. If taken in the right spirit, the Hema Committee report certainly has the potential to achieve its purpose of improving workplace cultures. But that will be served only if everyone focuses on the real issues rather than sensationalising the subject. It must be turned into an opportunity to create a better work atmosphere for everyone in the industry. Other film industries, too, can take a leaf out of the report and try to fix their own set of problems. It can be a turning point for all concerned, provided the intentions are correct.

BENGALURU MUST IMPROVE ITS WASTE MANAGEMENT

SIGNS of helplessness in managing Bengaluru's rapid growth are becoming more conspicuous. One of the most glaring are the missteps in disposing of the 6,000 tonnes of garbage generated daily. The Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has seemingly given up on finding ways to effectively manage the waste. Senior BBMP officials have asked citizens to manage their own waste—a troubling development further compromising effective disposal. This seriously questions the inspiring statement, 'Government's work is god's work', inscribed on the ramparts of the Vidhana Soudha, the nerve-centre of the Karnataka government.

Experts lament that the BBMP has no control over its contractors, who are accused of holding the city to ransom and working like a mafia. Bengalureans are mandated to segregate waste at home before handing it over to garbage collectors. But the contractors mix it to increase weight and get heftier cheques from the BBMP, which pays them on the weight of garbage lifted. Besides, a majority of BBMP pourakarmikas or sanitation workers are on contract and are often paid late by the contractors, leading to frequent protests.

So garbage disposal in what is perceived as the most global city in India has become a sham. The city has just one landfill and a sprinkling of waste processing units that are either unauthorised, dysfunctional for technical reasons, or affected by citizens' protests against having them in their vicinity. Bengaluru may have been adjudged the most liveable city in 2024 with a score of 66.70 on the ministry of housing and urban affairs' Ease of Living index that assesses Indian cities on the quality of life and efficacy of urban development initiatives. But it needs to go a long way to make it actually liveable.

There are other systemic issues at play. There have been no civic elections in the city since September 2020, mainly due to ward denotification and reservation, issues that are in the courts. The BBMP is governed by an administrator who directly reports to the state government. But much can still be done. The urgent need is to ensure strict surveillance of contractors to keep the waste segregated, increase the number of authorised wet waste processing units and ensure the proper use of landfills. The IT City of India has no other options but to streamline its waste disposal system and protect its reputation.

QUICK TAKE

BEWARE IDENTITY THIEVES

THE Delhi police have registered a complaint against a man who posed as the chief justice of India and sought cab fare from another individual. Meanwhile, the Supreme Court is hearing the bail plea of a man charged with impersonating former a Patna High Court chief justice in 2022 and making the court's registrar buy him gift cards. The cases come months after a 42-year-old was arrested for duping two people by impersonating a Delhi crime branch inspector. These high-profile impersonations come in an age when identity theft has become pervasive. As part of cyber safety campaigns, it's imperative to train all generations against the menace of identity theft.

Rather than just focusing on sensational cases involving actors, the Hema Committee report should be used to improve the lot of all women working in the film industry

STAR-GAZING IN A DEEP STATE OF FEAR

MEENA T PILLAI
Professor & Head, Institute of English; Director, Centre for Cultural Studies, University of Kerala; and author of Effective Feminisms in Digital India

SOURAV ROY

ARE our stars really the stuff that dreams are made of? Was the love peddled to millions of cine lovers built on the humiliation of many women who struggled alongside men to build this palace of illusions? Was the magic of cinema just a sham that covered the megalomania of men who used the economy of cinema to traffic in patriarchal dividends? Do the raptures of agony and ecstasy engendered by cinema that touch our cores make us complicit in the oppressively feudal artistic economies?

Among the many film industries in India, Malayalam cinema is considered a cut apart for its progressive politics and innovativeness around plot and style. But its ramparts were razed through a single stroke, as Justice Hema Committee's report filed the epochal voices of a handful of women who questioned the misogynist foundations of this grand castle of deception.

Triggered by the inhuman assault on a female actor in a moving car in broad daylight in 2018 and the subsequent resistance by the Women in Cinema Collective, the Kerala government appointed a three-member committee in 2017 under Justice Hema to study the workplace issues experienced by women in the Malayalam film industry. Yet, the very same government sat on the report for four and a half years, citing technicalities and fear of violating the confidentiality of the people who testified. It took many information requests and public outrage for the government to finally make a heavily-redacted document available for public perusal, where the nature and extent of redactions have drawn further flak.

In many places, the report speaks of the pall of silence and the culture of fear that exist in different cine unions, like that of dancers and junior artists, which prevented them from testifying openly before the committee. The fear of losing their meagre employment possibilities, of unauthorised bans and other forms of harassment were enough to silence those whose livelihoods depended on their precarious existence in a male-dominated industry.

One can safely surmise from the report that criminal fiefdoms are thriving within entertainment industries in the world's largest democracy. What the report lays bare to the civil society, which will probably find resonance in other film industries in India, is that behind the star-studded screen that most Indians are so invested in lies a dystopian world of gender oppression, sexual discrimination, harassment, violence and abuse. Prostitution, sextortion and pimping go under the pseudonyms of 'compromise' and adjustment'. There are dangerous beasts lurking in the dark underbelly of cinema.

Where do they draw their seemingly unquestionable power from? What prompts the unholy nexus between politicians and cinema barons that helps regularise the systemic character of the banality of evil? How can oligarchic republics of mafiadom operate so freely within the country? Can any democratically-elected government wash its hands of its responsibility to women by invoking legal justice while turning a myopic eye towards social justice?

In a state where film criticism is often based on hearsay, innuendoes and misogynist inferences, the report takes up women's labour, oppression, resistance and agency from the level of gossip, placing it on a terrain that could afford it legal scrutiny and public accountability. That said, suo motu judicial enquiries might not be practical, given that even the actor in the infamous assault case, in spite of all the public furore, had to face further trauma when a recording of her assault was leaked from judicial custody. How can the confidentiality of victims' testimonials be ensured under the present circumstances?

What is the guarantee, given the report of deep-seated cultures of fear instigated through trade unions, that the women's livelihoods would be protected from harm? In a digital era, what makes it so difficult to ensure that film sets have complaint committees comprising members from outside the industry, to which an oppressed woman can turn to for support or redress? The report itself states that such complaint committee might be useless because they are bound to be filled with nominees of power lobbies. This comment has a larger valence in Kerala, where complaint committees are often filled with women who are the handmaidens of patriarchy, defeating the very purpose of gender-just laws.

The unholy nexus between entertainment and politics, irrespective of party affiliations, creates nefarious 'fanboy' networks of hegemonic masculinity within which circulate money and other transactions, creating a system that is difficult to dismantle. This is the patriarchal deep state within which ordinary women technicians, choreographers, dancers and make-up artists—not just women actors—function under conditions of precarity. They are denied basic workplace amenities and equal wages, with abuse and violence being made so commonplace as to be common-sensical.

Instead of being considered an attack on powerful institutions or individuals, the report should be seen as an opportunity to influence policies. There are many policy decisions a proactive government could take in light of the report without being carried away by the media sensationalisation of the abuse faced by female actors alone. Instead, the focus should also be on the 15-odd other serious issues pointed out in the report that take stock of women's labour, dignity and human rights. It could initiate steps to ensure that men and women, particularly in the lowest rungs of the work order, be given equal wages for equal work. Women suffer heavily in low-paid, insecure and often-unsafe jobs in the industry. The government could take steps to guarantee dignity of labour and decent wages, safe working environments, and provide social protections like healthcare and maternity benefits.

Cinema cannot continue to function as a discriminatory cabal that thrives on women's labour, but enjoys exclusive rights over the degradation, exploitation, objectification and commodification of their bodies. It is time the state took stock of the crass unionisation of patriarchy in the industry, which forms a conduit for the diktats of power lobbies and for the fear they instigate and the surveillance they enable down to individuals, creating more aggressively feudal men and more silenced women. Unless there are more 'feminichies' to upset the applecart of machodom, it does not augur well for Kerala.

COLLECTIVE RESPONSIBILITY TO FIGHT A GLOBAL CRISIS

BHUWAN RIBHU
Child rights activist, lawyer and author of When Children Have Children: Tipping Point to End Child Marriage

IF there is one crime in the modern world that epitomises how unjust the world is, a crime that ruthlessly exploits human vulnerability for profit, it is human trafficking. The crime's scars are much worse when the victims are children. Children amount to one-third of trafficking victims in a large part of the world; in parts of Africa and the Mekong delta, they are the majority of victims.

Yet, the crime continues to thrive. A meshwork of organised traffickers spread across borders is constantly outsmarting the rest of the world. Ironic as it may sound, every vulnerability, be it a natural disaster or a war, translates into an opportunity. Every novel technology meant to enrich the global community becomes a tool in the hands of these criminals. As a result, our efforts to combat trafficking often become futile, leading to a collective failure.

So, what is the way forward in addressing such a deeply entrenched crime? Clearly, the solution cannot be scattered or knee-jerk. It cannot be addressed only at the local level, by a single country. A crime involving cross-border networks requires global partnership and a comprehensive framework.

To begin, survivors of child trafficking often hold the critical links needed to dismantle the trafficking network and have the potential to expose and disrupt the entire operation. For example, in Telangana alone in 2023-24, 1,247 rescued child labourers were victims of trafficking. Each of these children is a key to an entire network. A thousand children in one state can provide crucial tip-offs on the trafficking ring. This may seem just a brick in the wall, but it is a brick nonetheless. Imagine other states with thousands of other child survivors adding to this information. Imagine all this information collected in a national database. Now imagine all such national databases from around the world being collated—a common database with a large number of traffickers' details.

With such a global database, many more would be documented and prosecuted. Chances of a trafficker operating in a new territory would be slimmer if governments had access to such global intelligence.

Trafficking of children is a multi-billion-dollar industry, with estimates suggesting it generates significant profits for traffickers and involves substantial expenditures by organisations working to combat it. From being forced into labour at minimal or no wage, sold for marriage and prostitution, and recruited into dangerous environments, to being forced into crime, trafficked children suffer unimaginable abuse and trauma while traffickers exploit them.

According to the International Labour Organization (ILO), the annual global profits from forced labour and sexual exploitation is an estimated $236 billion —a 37 percent rise since 2014. Break it down and the report, Profits and Poverty: The economics of forced labour, estimates that traffickers and criminals are generating close to$10,000 per victim. Meanwhile, the total global expenditure on combating human trafficking is difficult to quantify precisely, but runs into billions of dollars when considering the combined efforts of governments, international organisations and NGOs.

PTI

Trafficking of children is a multi-billion-dollar industry. The resources allocated to fight it are often insufficient. No single country can effectively fight this cross-border menace. The need of the hour is to compile a global database of traffickers and a framework to respond in unison

However, despite significant investments, resources are often insufficient for the scale of the problem. Many anti-trafficking organisations operate with limited funding and face challenges in sustaining long-term efforts. The disparity between the profitability of trafficking and the resources available to fight it highlights the need for increased funding, international cooperation and innovative strategies.

The disparity doesn't end with financial challenges alone. USAID's 2024 Trafficking In Persons Report report highlights that there are an estimated 27.6 million victims of human trafficking worldwide, including men, women and children. Meanwhile, there were 18,774 prosecutions and just over 7,000 convictions for trafficking globally in the past year. This discrepancy is huge. This global crisis is filled with the stifled screams of millions of children and is demanding an immediate and unified response. This gap is our collective moral failure.

Another crucial aspect of this fight is establishing standardised procedures for the investigation and repatriation of trafficking victims. Uniform protocols ensure that investigations are thorough, transparent and effective, regardless of jurisdiction. Standardised procedures for repatriation guarantee victims receive the necessary support and care to safely return and reintegrate into their home cities, states and countries, ensuring their rights and dignity are upheld throughout the process. Moreover, given the vast scope of child trafficking, implementing these standardised procedures becomes even more imperative.

We need to harness every resource, innovate relentlessly, and commit to a future where trafficking is not just tackled but eradicated. A borderless crime requires a borderless response. We need to create a global framework of action where data and information is shared, victims are identified, rescued, and repatriated with urgency, the proceeds of crime are traced and attached, criminals are prosecuted and convicted in a time-bound framework, and the two cardinal principles of 'Look beneath the surface' and 'Follow the money' are followed. This necessitates the establishment of a global task force and a comprehensive database to enhance coordination and efficiency. Additionally, there is a pressing need for a comprehensive legal framework in all countries, including India, to ensure consistent and effective measures against trafficking.

This is our shared responsibility. As traffickers are driven to profits, humanity needs to be collectively driven to justice.

School expense

Ref: Rising education costs turn aspirations into burdens (Aug 28). It is quite bizarre that education has become so expensive over the decades. Fixing a uniform fee structure is quite impractical as the facilities offered vary from institution to institution. Hence, parents should ensure their expense is worth it.
Krishnaprasad S, Palakkad

AAP model

More than the cost of education, it is the standard of education that is a cause for concern. The standards in state government schools are pathetic. This is the main reason for the demand for private schools. It's time to follow the Aam Aadmi Party model and upgrade schools.
S Vignesh, Pollachi

Regulate fees

Education is considered the golden path to wealth, prompting every individual to seek a degree from a prestigious institution. However, with the government unable to finance quality education for all citizens, private organisations are charging exorbitant fees. It is within the power of the government to step in and regulate the fees.
Jose M, Kozhikode

Conflict resolution

Ref: Bear hugs on both sides of battle line (Aug 28). PM Narendra Modi's efforts to reconcile Russia and Ukraine are quite admirable. It makes perfect sense that he met with both presidents to convey the message that only dialogue and diplomacy can contribute to a resolution of the conflict. India should be commended by the West for setting itself apart from other countries in this way.
K Venkatasubramanian, Chennai

Worrying resignation

Ref: Mohanlal quits as AMMA prez (Aug 28). The move on the senior actor's part to step down and take accountability is commendable, but I hope this doesn't mean the previous panel will wash their hands of the incident. I hope this follows through with full cooperation on their part to bring about reform in the Mollywood film industry.
Aashi Samith, Bengaluru

Mohanlal haunted

The resignation of Mohanlal and his crew is a clear sign of the underlying decrepitude plaguing the organisation. The leader of any organisation has to be above board, but Mohanlal himself is haunted by more than a decade-old case registered when four elephant tusks were seized from his house in a raid conducted by income tax authorities in June 2012.

CM slams CBI for probe delay

The Chief Minister, on the other hand, targeted the CBI for its "delay" in delivering results of the investigation into the trainee doctor's rape-murder in RG Kar hospital. "Sixteen days have passed since the CBI took over the probe from the Kolkata Police. Where is justice? We want the CBI to come up with investigation updates," she said.

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @Kolkata

WEST Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee asserted on Wednesday that her government has zero tolerance for incidents of rape, saying that an amendment to the existing laws will be passed in the state assembly next week to ensure capital punishment for convicted rapists.

She accused the BJP of fomenting trouble in Bengal. Speaking at the foundation day event of the Trinamool youth wing, she said, "If Bengal is set on fire, Assam, Northeast, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Jharkhand, Odisha and Delhi will also be affected," the TMC chief warned.

Denouncing the BJP for calling a 12-hour general strike on Wednesday, Mamata said, "They called the bandh since they wanted political dividends over a dead body. The BJP is trying to exploit the emotions of ordinary people in the wake of the death of the young woman. They want to malign Bengal and plotted a conspiracy to derail the probe into her death."

The BJP accused Mamata of threatening opposition parties by abandoning her earlier slogan of 'badla noy, badal chai' (no revenge, only change) in response to alleged insults from the Opposition.

State BJP chief Sukanta Majumder said he has written to Union Home Minister Amit Shah apprising him of the alarming law and order situation in the state. "It is unthinkable and unprecedented for a chief minister, who is constitutionally bound to rise above partisan attitudes, to make intimidating statements that pose a threat to democracy," Majumdar said.

Against the backdrop of the rape-murder of a Kolkata medico, the CM said, "Next week, we will call an assembly session and pass a bill to ensure capital punishment for rapists. We will send this bill to the governor. If he doesn't pass it, then we will sit outside Raj Bhavan. The Governor cannot avoid accountability," she said.

She urged the agitating junior doctors of Bengal, who are on cease-work for 20 days now to protest, to urgently consider returning to duty and said she doesn't want to lodge FIRs against the striking doctors in consideration of their future careers. The agitating doctors interpreted the CM's remark as a "veiled threat" and rejected her appeal to join work.

A member of the West Bengal Junior Doctors' Forum said they would not withdraw the agitation unless their demands for justice for the deceased and punishment for all responsible were met.

NTF safety steps: CCTVs at blind spots in hosps, mock drills and security audit

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

THE Central government on Wednesday asked the states to carry out a slew of measures to ensure enhanced security and safer working environment for healthcare workers.

Hospitals with high footfall to install CCTV cameras in blind spots, security audits to be carried out with the district collector and DSP, mock drills for security to be regularly conducted like safety drills for fire, and safety committee to be institutionalised and involve resident and junior doctors were some of the measures listed.

Safety measures listed

- CCTV cameras in blind spots
- Security audits with district collector and DSP
- Security mock drills
- Institutionalising of safety committee and involving resident and junior doctors

Union home secretary Govind Mohan, who co-chaired the second meeting of the National Task Force of chief secretaries and the Director Generals of Police, with Union health secretary Apruva Chandra, also requested the officials to ensure that the 112 helpline number is integrated for health care workers, access control of large hospitals, and the revamped position under Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita is shared with the healthcare workers.

Chandra encouraged the states to develop innovative ideas and emphasized some of the immediate measures that can be considered.

He suggested that the states should also review any shortfall in existing infrastructure and security arrangements and take remedial measures.

They were asked to carry out security checks of all hired security and other services staff regularly.

Second nuke-powered submarine Arighat to be commissioned today

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

INDIA prepares to add strength to underwater strategic capability with the second nuclear propulsion submarine of the Arihant Class slated to be commissioned on Thursday.

Sources confirmed that Indian Naval Ship (INS) Arighat is slated to commission at Visakhapatnam, Andhra Pradesh, in the presence of senior military leadership.

The INS Arihant is the first of the five Arihant class attack submarines developed indigenously and is seen as an important component of India's nuclear triad. The submarine is of 6,000-tonne displacement with a length of 110 metres and a breadth of 11 metres. These submarines are designed to carry K4 and K15 submarine-launched ballistic missiles.

The name of the class of naval ships and submarines is generally the name of the first ship built of the same design.

A nuclear triad is a three-layered military force structure that consists of nuclear bombs and missiles that can be launched through land, water and air. The land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles, submarine-launched ballistic missiles, and strategic bombers are components of the triad.

Indian Navy's tryst with nuclear-powered submarines began in January 1988 with a nuclear attack submarine, INS Chakra, leased from the then USSR. Meanwhile, the Indian Navy's Advanced Technology Vessel project was taking shape in the 1990s. This fructified with INS Arihant getting inducted in August 2016. The second in the class, INS Arighat, was launched in November 2021.

As reported by this newspaper on August 11, a government green light to enhance the attack capability of the Indian Navy is due this year through the manufacture of nuclear-powered submarines. It is expected to serve as a deterrent for the Chinese Navy's increasing foray into the Indian Ocean Region.

Nod to 12 smart cities, 234 FM stations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Cabinet on Wednesday approved a slew of mega infrastructure projects including building 12 new industrial smart cities at a cost of ₹28,602 crore, three new railway projects worth ₹6,456 crore and special dedicated fund of ₹4,136 crore for equity participation by the northeastern states in developing hydroelectric projects in the region. It also decided to roll out FM radio stations in 234 uncovered cities.

Briefing media after the Union Cabinet meeting chaired by the Prime Minister, Information and Broadcasting Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said that the industrial smart cities would come up across 10 states and is strategically planned along six major corridors.

The minister said the approval for the industrial cities has been given under the National Industrial Corridor Development Programme (NICDP) with an estimated investment of ₹28,602 crore. The move will transform the industrial landscape of the country, creating a robust network of industrial nodes and cities that will significantly boost economic growth and global competitiveness, he said.

The cabinet also approved three railway projects worth ₹6,456 crore, covering seven districts in four states including Odisha, Jharkhand, West Bengal and Chhattisgarh.

The power ministry's proposal to provide Central financial assistance to the governments of the northeastern states for their equity participation in developing hydroelectric projects was also approved. This bears an outlay of ₹4,136 crore.

Another decision was taken to roll out 730 FM private radio channels for 234 new cities through e-auctions. This comes at an estimated reserve price of ₹784.87 crore under the FM Radio Phase III policy. Many of the approved cities or towns are in Naxal-hit areas.

In a bid to make the Central Sector Scheme under the flagship Agriculture Infrastructure Fund impactful, the Centre also gave its nod to expand it.

SC says 'bail is rule, jail an exception' applicable in cases under PMLA as well

SUCHITRA K MOHANTY @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday declared that the principle "bail is a rule, and jail an exception" would apply even in cases registered under the stringent Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA).

A two-judge bench of Justices BR Gavai and KV Vishwanathan pronounced the verdict on a bail plea filed by Prem Prakash, allegedly an associate of Jharkhand Chief Minister Hemant Soren, accused in an illegal mining case. The accused had moved the court after the Jharkhand High Court denied him bail in the matter.

While granting relief to Prakash, the apex court noted that the petitioner had been behind bars for 18 months. "The principle of bail a rule, jail an exception is a part of fundamental right under Article 21 of Constitution, and deprivation of liberty can be done only following due procedure of law," Justice Gavai said.

"Liberty of the individual is always the rule and deprivation an exception. Deprivation can be made only by the procedure established by the law, which must be valid and reasonable. Section 45 of the PMLA, by imposing twin conditions, does not rewrite this principle to mean that deprivation is the norm. In cases where bail is subject to the satisfaction of the twin conditions, those conditions must be satisfied," the bench said.

The twin conditions were that the prosecutor should be given adequate opportunity to oppose the bail and that the accused must prove prima facie that he is not guilty.

The court took exception to the statements in an affidavit filed by him, saying the court was not following the law.

Hearing on eligibility for arbitration begins

The Supreme Court on Wednesday commenced hearing arguments on the vexed legal question of whether a person ineligible to become an arbitrator can nominate another as one. A five-judge constitution bench led by the CJI heard arguments relating to provisions of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996.

Amid consultation, JPC on Waqf Bill seeks suggestions from stakeholders

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

AMID concerns flagged by various Opposition parties and Muslim bodies, the Joint Committee of Parliament on the Waqf (Amendment) Bill, 2024 on Wednesday invited views and suggestions from the public, NGOs, experts, stakeholders and institutions.

This comes even as the JPC chairman Jagdambika Pal has been holding consultations with various Muslim bodies on the contentious legislation. Pal met religious leaders and intellectuals on Tuesday in Lucknow and assured them that no injustice will be done to waqf.

The written suggestions to the committee can be sent to joint secretary, Lok Sabha Secretariat, Room No. 440, Parliament House Annexe, New Delhi-110001 and can also be mailed to jpcwaqf-lss@sansad.nic.in, said a press release issued by the Lok Sabha Secretariat. The suggestions can be written in English or Hindi.

They should reach within 15 days from the date of the publication of the advertisement, it said. It also said that those who wish to appear before the committee are requested to indicate the same. The submissions will be treated as confidential and enjoy privileges of the committee, it said. The Waqf (Amendment) Bill, 2024 is available on the Lok Sabha website.

A 20-point memorandum was submitted to Pal on behalf of various organisations during his Lucknow visit.

The JPC, comprising 31 members, has been tasked with examining the Bill, which proposed sweeping changes to the Waqf Bill 1995.

The government says that the Waqf (Amendment) Bill is aimed at ensuring that the amendments are necessary to streamline the functioning of Waqf properties and ensure better governance.

Unease in BJP over excluding OBCs from J&K lists

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

A section of the BJP has questioned the party's pro-OBC credentials in the candidate selection for the Jammu and Kashmir assembly elections, saying despite releasing three lists of candidates, none is from the community that comprises 30-40 per cent of the region's population.

This "exclusion" has led to significant discontent among OBC voters, who feel sidelined despite BJP's assertion of advocacy for their rights.

The party's Central Election Committee (CEC) is meeting again on Thursday. OBC leaders from the region hope that at least one candidate belonging to the community would get the nomination.

However, there is little scope: For the remaining six assembly seats in the Jammu region, for which candidates are expected to be announced soon, three are reserved for SCs and the rest are general seats, remarked a BJP source.

BJP workers protest against party leadership after the first list of candidates for the Jammu and Kashmir assembly elections was released | FILE PHOTO

There are 43 assembly seats in the Jammu region and 47 in Kashmir. The BJP's current list includes more than 14 candidates from the Muslim community but excludes any OBC representative.

An OBC leader from the party's Jammu and Kashmir unit expressed frustration, saying the absence of OBC candidates contradicted the BJP's claims of equitable representation, especially in areas with substantial OBC absence.

The BJP has announced 44 candidates for the 90-member Jammu and Kashmir assembly. It is expected that the party will field its candidates at least on 58 constituencies. "On the remaining seats, there is a strong possibility of supporting strong independent candidates," hinted a senior leader.

Many of the BJP's new candidates are from other parties such as the National Conference (NC), People's Democratic Party (PDP), Congress, and Apni Party. However, none of them belongs to the OBCs.

The party has also fielded a candidate from the Samba assembly seat that previously belonged to the National Conference. The final candidate selection, particularly for the Jammu region, is anticipated following the Central Election Committee meeting attended by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and other senior party functionaries.

● Govt says situation 'alarming', trains in Central Gujarat cancelled till Aug 31 ● Land submergence at Tehri in U'khand

Army deployed as heavy rain continues in Vadodara

Indian Army personnel rescue stranded people from Sama locality of Vadodara | PTI

LARGE parts of Vadodara in Gujarat remained submerged for a second straight day as the state government described the situation "alarming" and called in the Army for relief and rescue operations on Wednesday.

Continuous heavy rains have flooded railway tracks, forcing the cancellation of all trains passing through central Gujarat until August 31. So far, 19 trains have been fully canceled, one train each has been short-terminated and short-originated, and a Rajdhani Express has been diverted.

Health Minister and government spokesperson Rushikesh Patel reported that some areas in Vadodara were submerged under 10-12 ft water.

The Vishwamitri river, which runs through the city, breached the danger level of 25 ft on Tuesday morning after torrential rains and the discharge from the Ajwa dam, Patel said after a review meeting with senior officials.

"The water level at the dam is currently at 213.8 feet, and we have shut the gates to prevent more water from flowing into the Vishwamitri, which is now at 37 feet, well above the danger mark. The river has overflowed into the city, causing widespread flooding," said Health Minister Rushikesh Patel.

He said four Army columns are currently deployed for relief and rescue operations in Vadodara. As a long-term measure, the state government is exploring a proposal to divert floodwater into the Narmada canal instead of releasing it into the Vishwamitri. In Vadodara, the situation remains dire as many areas on both sides of the river are submerged under 10-12 feet of water. Over 5,000 people have been relocated to safety, and nearly 1,200 people have been rescued, according to Patel.

In Vadodara, flooding has caused power outages in some parts of the city. The Gujarat flood crisis has intensified political debates. Congress leader Gandhi has urged the government to offer support and collaborate with Congress workers in the flood relief efforts.

"The flood situation is worsening. My heartfelt condolences to those who have lost loved ones. I wish recovery to the injured. I urge all Congress workers to assist in relief and rescue efforts. The government must take all necessary actions to mitigate the disaster's impact, enabling the affected to begin rehabilitation swiftly."

Stray cows pushed into river; 4 held

At a time when the Madhya Pradesh government is making focused efforts for cow conservation and promotion, an incident of cruelty with cows has surfaced in Satna district. Reports said around 50 stray cows could've been driven into the river, out of which 10-15 might have died. The local police identified at least four accused. "All the four accused identified as Beta Bagri, Ravi Bagri and Rampal Chowdhary have been booked under the provisions of the Madhya Pradesh Gauvansh Vadh Pratishedh Adhiniyam, the law that prevents the killing of cows in the state, and also under the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS)," a senior police officer said. A video showing a group of villagers pushing cows into the flooded Satna river and being swept away into the surging waters went viral on Wednesday

Landslides wreak havoc in villages, families displaced

NARENDRA SETHI @Dehradun

A series of land submergence and landslides triggered by rains have led to the displacement and migration of people from many districts of Uttarakhand. The situation has worsened in Gopeshwar and Tehri, where landslides and soil erosion have threatened human life and property.

Reports from district headquarters said in Gopeshwar's Kinjhani village, at least 60 families are forced to abandon their homes and seek shelter in safer areas. Similarly, 31 families are affected in Tehri's Bhilangana block.

Cracks have appeared in the fields of Kinjhani village's lower areas, causing loss of agricultural land. Fourteen affected families are currently living in schools, while 44 families have moved to their relatives' homes. According to reports from the district headquarters, a sudden landslide at Varunavat mountain has sent shockwaves through Uttarkashi, where residents are once again on high alert after the mountain's deadly 2003 landslide that altered the town's landscape. On Tuesday night, large boulders began falling from the hill towards residential areas, causing panic among locals.

The incident has brought back painful memories of the 2003 landslide, which remained active for an extended period. The fresh landslide has raised concerns among residents, who are now living in dread.

Tehri district disaster management officer Brijesh Bhatt told this newspaper that the authorities have deployed teams in the affected areas for people's safety. "However, in the disaster-hit Ghuttu area of Bhilangana block in Ghansali, cracks have appeared in several houses due to landslides in Kanijau and Bhatgaon areas of Maidu gram panchayat," said DDMO Bhatt.

Radha Mohan Agarwal stirs the pot

The political temperature in Rajasthan is soaring, thanks to the BJP appointing Radha Mohan Agarwal as the new state in-charge. The party, already reeling from controversies, now finds itself in deep waters through Agarwal's sharp remarks. Initially, his comments against senior BJP leader Rajendra Rathore created an uproar. Then he upped the ante by taking swipes at Congress stalwarts Ashok Gehlot and Sachin Pilot. Besides claiming that Gehlot's career is dead, Agarwal also angered Pilot's loyalists by dismissing him as a "spent cartridge". This sparked protests by Pilot supporters at several locations.

Law minister's son resigns as AAG

In a twist that has everyone talking, Manish Patel, son of Rajasthan's Law Minister Jogaram Patel, has stepped down just five months after being appointed Additional Advocate General (AAG). Patel was handed the post in Jodhpur's main bench in March, 2024, raising eyebrows. It became a big row for the Bhajanlal government, with critics accusing the law minister of nepotism. The controversy exploded during the budget session, where Congress MLA Mukesh Bhakar raised the issue but was forcibly removed. The Congress MLAs even staged an overnight protest inside Assembly.

Unexpected infiltration of goats from Pak

As if border tensions weren't enough, a new player has entered the India-Pakistan saga — goats. Barmer district, already grappling with issues ranging from cross-border farmers to spies and locust swarms from Pakistan, now faces an unexpected challenge. A week ago, around 250 goats from Pakistan decided to stage their own border crossing into Barmer. However, Pakistan has flat-out refused to take them back, leaving Indian authorities scratching their heads. The situation has become quite the spectacle, with border security officers unsure how to handle this unusual "infiltration." Sources say authorities may auction the goats locally.

Hooch tragedy hits 'dry' Bihar; 3 dead, 2 in hosp

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

THREE persons died, and two others fell sick after consuming spurious liquor in Bihar's Sitamarhi district during the last 36 hours. The victims are undergoing treatment at a government hospital at the district headquarters where their condition is stated to be stable.

The incident took place between Jaynagar and Araria villages under Sonbasra and Kanhauli blocks, close to India-Nepal border, in Sitamarhi district. All the five victims had consumed country-made liquor at a local vend late on Saturday evening.

The condition of the victims started deteriorating early on Sunday. Lal Babu Rai (50), a resident of Jaynagar, died soon after being admitted to a local private hospital. He had complained of acute abdomen pain, loss of eyesight, headache and nausea.

The same day, another victim identified as Uma Sah (55), a resident of Araria village died during treatment. The third deceased was identified as Gaurishankar Rau (45), a resident of Jaynagar village. The third victim died on Tuesday. Those undergoing treatment have been identified as Jagat Mahto (33) and Chhotan Mahto (20).

BSF protests against Pak move on J&K separatist leader's photo at Wagah

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

THE Border Security Force (BSF) has lodged a strong protest with Pakistan Rangers after the neighbouring country displayed a large photograph of Kashmiri separatist leader Late Syed Ali Shah Geelani of Hurriyat Conference at the Attari-Wagah joint check post.

According to sources, the photograph has been put up near the site of the flag-lowering ceremony at the JICP on the Wagah side in Pakistan. "The picture has been put up recently and we have lodged a strong protest with the Pakistani Rangers as this area is only for regimental and ceremonial purposes. It should not be used for political purposes or posturing hence, the photo should be removed," said a senior BSF official requesting anonymity.

> The picture was put up recently and we have lodged a strong protest with Pakistani Rangers as this area is only for regimental and ceremonial purposes
> A senior BSF official

He further said Pakistan's move at this high-profile location is intended to influence the visitors coming for the Beat-the-Retreat ceremony -- a traditional military ceremony that marks the end of the official day. It is a provocative act to highlight the Kashmir issue and accelerate tensions.

Displaying the photo of Geelani — a prominent but highly controversial leader in the Kashmiri separatist movement — at the border check post could be part of Pakistan's broader strategy to fortify its support for the separatist movement as it comes at the time against the backdrop of the recent escalation in the incidents of terrorism and upcoming elections in Jammu & Kashmir. The neighbouring country wants to draw a reaction and generate further tension. Besides, this is also a gimmick to divert attention from its domestic issues. Another official of a central agency added that this move seems to be a tactic to attract and draw international attention and focus on the Kashmir issue.

Meanwhile, the number of drones carrying drugs and ammunition from the neighbouring country into India via the Punjab sector this year has gone up. This year, the BSF recovered 120 drones against 107 seizures made last year.

Thackeray & BJP men clash as Ajit says sorry for Shivaji statue collapse

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

CLASHES broke out between oppositionMaha Vikas Aghadi and BJP supporters at Rajkot Fort where Chhatrapati ShivajiMaharaj statue collapsed in Sindhudurg district. Ever since the incident, the Opposition has beem demanding the CM's resignation. It decided to visit the site to protests against the Mahayuti government that wasshrugging off its responsibility and putting the onus on the Indian Navy.

When Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Aditya Thackeray along with his supporters arrived at the spot, former Union minister Nararan Rane, Ratnagiri-Sindhudurg MP, too reached the place alongwith his son and BJP supporters.There was argument between Rane, his son and a woman journalist.

Meanwhile, deputy CM Ajit Pawar apologised to the people for the collapse of the statue.

The political battle has intensified over the collapse of the statue of Maratha warrior king Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj. While NCP chief Sharad Pawar has hit out at the Mahayuti government, CM Eknath Shinde and his deputy Devendra Fadnavis blamed the gusty winds for the statue's collapse.

Pawar attributed the incident to corruption in the state machinery, saying it has reached its peak under the BJP-led dispensation. The Opposition said the government did not spare even Shivaji Maharaj in its "commission raj."

The statue at Rajkot Fort was unveiled 10 months ago by PM Narendra Modi.

While the BJP-led Mahayuti blamed the Indian Navy that had installed the statue, the Navy clarified that it had only installed it, and not built it.

When Shinde and Fadnavis claimed that the collapse was due to strong winds, Pawar said the same weather conditions prevailed in other parts of the state, but nothing of the sort happened. Pawar buttressed his argument saying that the statue has stood strong at the Gateway of India for over 50 years, facing the vagaries of weather.

C'garh story: Women sterilisation 10 times higher than males in 5 years

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

DESPITE the rising awareness on options for family planning, it's the women who are seen taking the onus of responsibility on them as the surgical procedures for female sterilisation (tubectomy) carried out in Chhattisgarh recorded over ten times more than the male sterilisation (vasectomy).

Both genders apparently remain informed about the sterilisation, voluntary in nature across the country, that the process is highly effective to avoid pregnancy.

But the comparative figures suggest far more women than men, both in rural and urban areas, take greater burden for family planning by stepping forward to opt for sterilisation.

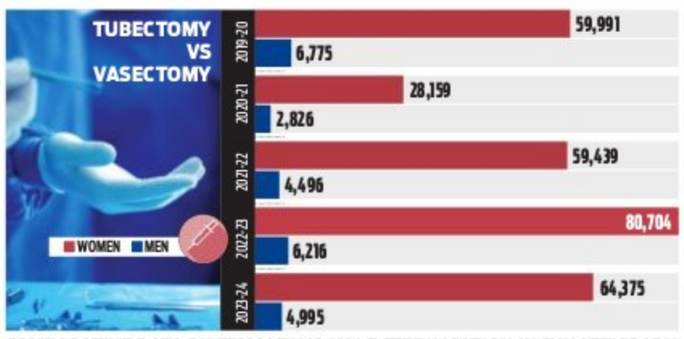
During the last five years, Chhattisgarh saw 2,92,668 women opting for vasectomy while not a sizeable number of men at 25,308 only decided for the sterilisation (see graphic).

The officials in the state health department stated that despite extensive campaigns that yielded good results over the years, there are still misconceptions and myths prevailing on sterilisation that will cause weakness, affect quality of life and the man will lose his sexual potency.

"There is no such impact on normal health of both women and men undergoing sterilisation. Low willingness and education too contribute to men lagging behind women to plan for such birth control options. The procedures for male sterilisation remain simple and swift", the officials said.

The financial incentive in the state remains ₹3,000 to encourage men to undergo vasectomy procedures and ₹2,000 for female sterilisation. The government also provides compensation for any casualty or failures resulting following sterilisation in hospital or within 7 days from the date of discharge.

Recently the health department carried out comprehensive awareness drive during the population sterilisation fortnight programme with the support of female health workers mostly in rural areas.



COMPARATIVE DATA ON FEMALE V/S MALE STERILISATION IN CHHATTISGARH

Dateline: Tosham. At play 'Bansi Lal family fight'

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

THE upcoming assembly polls in Haryana will likely witness former Chief Minister Bansi Lal's grandchildren contesting against each other from Tosham. Both former Member of Parliament Shruti Choudhry--daughter of Bansi Lal's younger son late Surender Singh — and Anirudh Chaudhary, son of Lal's elder son Ranbir Mahendera (first cousins), have staked claim over their grandfather's legacy and expressed their willingness to fight from the seat.

While Shruti is seeking a BJP ticket, Anirudh aspires to get a ticket from the Congress. Neither the BJP nor the Congress has announced their list of candidates.

A couple of months back, Kiran Choudhry, along with her daughter Shruti, had quit the Congress to join the BJP. She was upset after the grand old party refused to give Shruti the ticket from the Bhiwani-Mahendragarh Lok Sabha seat. Recently, the BJP nominated Kiran for the Rajya Sabha bypoll from Haryana.

On Tuesday, she was elected unopposed as the party is strengthening its position in the state ahead of the crucial October 1 state assembly election, more so after it became evident during the recent Lok Sabha polls that the farming community, especially Jats essentially opposed the ruling party.

Meanwhile, Anirudh is considered close to former chief minister and Leader of Opposition Bhupinder Singh Hooda.

Both Shruti and Anirudh had recently held rallies on the 97th birth anniversary of their grandfather and sought public support. Shruti said when her father and grandfather died, her mother Kiran shifted to Tosham from Delhi politics, and she represented this seat four times and now they joined the BJP due to one person.

She claimed that her grandfather Bansi Lal announced that he would hand over his political legacy to her during a programme. But now, some people (Anirudh) talk about her grandfather's legacy.

Her mother, Kiran Choudhry, said that were there to hand over her daughter Shruti to the Tosham voters.

Shruti Choudhry was elected MP from Bhiwani-Mahendergarh in 2009 on a Congress ticket, but Dharambir Singh of the BJP defeated her in the 2014 and 2019 Lok Sabha polls. Her late father Surender Singh, and grandfather, Bansi Lal, held the Bhiwani seat on multiple occasions.

On the other hand, Anirudh Chaudhary claimed to be the real torch-bearer of his grandfather's legacy. After merging the Haryana Vikas party into the Congress, Bansi Lal told the leaders of the Congress that his younger son Surender Singh will represent the family, but after Surender's death, Bansi Lal stated that his son Ranbir Mahendra and his son will carry the family's legacy.

Anirudh Chaudhary had said that he will contest the election from Tosham on a Congress ticket. Now, the party has to take a call.

Claiming that he has the support of the youth, he said if he gets the ticket from Tosham, all the Congress leaders in the race for the ticket will support him.

Ukraine pipeline to stop carrying Russian gas to EU

Kyiv in talks with Azerbaijan to carry its gas to Austria, Hungary, Slovakia after Dec 31

MOSCOW

UKRAINIAN President Volodymyr Zelenskyy on Tuesday said his country would not extend the transit agreement via Ukraine beyond December 31. "It's over," he said.

Despite the ongoing conflict, Russia delivered more than 14 billion cubic metres of gas to Europe via Ukraine in 2023, although this was less than the 40 billion cubic metres provided for in the contract.

Volodymyr Zelenskyy

EU members Austria, Hungary and Slovakia still receive Russian gas in this way.

The three countries continue to rely on Russian gas despite an EU pledge to free itself of Russian gas by 2027 following Moscow's full-scale offensive into Ukraine launched in February 2022. "Such a decision by Ukraine will seriously harm the interests of European consumers who still want to buy Russian gas," Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said.

"They will simply have to pay much more, which will make their industry less competitive," he added.

Ukrainian companies signed the five-year contract with Gazprom at the end of 2019.

Last month, Zelensky had indicated that Ukraine was in discussions with Azerbaijan, a major producer of natural gas, to replace Russian gas transiting Ukraine.

However, Ukraine does not share a border with Azerbaijan, which would imply that Azerbaijani gas would still have to be transported by pipeline via Russia. Azerbaijani President Ilham Aliyev said in late July that the EU and Kyiv had approached him to help discussions with Moscow to reach an agreement.

Since August 6, Ukraine has staged an unprecedented cross-border counter-offensive into Russia's Kursk region, seizing dozens of settlements, including the town of Sudzha.

The town of about 5,000 people is home to the Sudzha metering station, the last major transit point for Russian pipeline gas still heading to Europe via Ukraine.

Meanwhile, Ukrainian drones struck two fuel depots in Russia, sparking fires, officials said on Wednesday, the latest of Kyiv's repeated hits against Russian oil and gas facilities since Moscow's full-scale offensive into Ukraine.

Firefighters were still battling the flames and no one was injured, Rostov Governor said.

China fumes as US offers to escort Philippine ships

MANILA

THE US military is open to consultations about escorting Philippine ships in the disputed South China Sea, the head of US Indo-Pacific Command said on Tuesday amid a spike in hostilities between Beijing and Manila in the disputed waters.

Adm Samuel Paparo's remarks, which he made in response to a question during a news conference in Manila with Philippine Armed Forces chief Gen Romeo Brawner Jr., provided a glimpse of the mindset of one of the highest American military commanders outside the US mainland on a prospective operation that would risk putting US Navy ships in direct collisions with those of China.

Chinese coast guard, navy and suspected militia ships regularly clash with Philippine vessels during attempts to resupply Filipino sailors stationed in parts of the South China Sea claimed by both countries. As these clashes grow increasingly hostile, resulting in injuries to Filipino sailors and damage to their ships, the Philippine government has faced questions about invoking a treaty alliance with Washington.

Paparo and Brawner spoke to reporters after an international military conference in Manila organised by the US Indo-Pacific Command, at which China's increasingly assertive actions in the South China Sea were spotlighted. Military and defence officials and diplomats from the US and allied countries attended but there were no Chinese representatives.

Asked if the US military would consider escorting Philippine ships delivering food and other supplies to Filipino forces in the South China Sea, Paparo replied, "Certainly, within the context of consultations."

China's top diplomat Wang Yi on Wednesday warned visiting US National Security Advisor Jake Sullivan over supporting the Philippines in the disputed South China Sea, state media reported.

"The United States must not use bilateral treaties as an excuse to undermine China's sovereignty and territorial integrity, nor should it support or condone the Philippines's actions of infringement," Wang told Sullivan. AFP/AP

Israel's deadly attack on West Bank as war rages

JENIN

ISRAEL launched a large-scale operation on Wednesday in the occupied West Bank, where the army said it killed Palestinian fighters, as the nearly 11-month-old Gaza war showed no signs of abating. The military said its forces killed nine militants while the Palestinian Red Crescent reported 10 deaths in the West Bank, where violence has surged during the war sparked by Hamas October 7 attack.

Early Wednesday, Israel launched coordinated raids across four northern West Bank cities – Jenin, Nablus, Tubas and Tulkarem – where the military has focused much of its recent operations against armed groups.

Columns of armoured vehicles entered two refugee camps, in Tulkarem and Tubas, as well as Jenin. By midday, they were blocking entrances to the towns and camps with soldiers firing at the camps from which gunfire and explosions were heard. The Red Crescent said Israeli forces killed 10 people and wounded 22 others in the raids. The medical organisation's West Bank chief Younes al-Khatib said ambulances came under Israel fire and "one of our staffers was hit". Palestinian president Mahmud Abbas cut short a visit to Saudi Arabia and headed home to "follow up on the latest developments in light of the Israeli aggression", Palestinian official media said.

Israel air strike hits Hezbollah truck

A Lebanese security source said on Wednesday that an Israeli air strike hit a lorry loaded with Hezbollah missiles overnight, days after a major flare-up between the regional foes. "The Israeli air force targeted two Hezbollah lorries" some 10 kilometres from Baalbek, a stronghold of the Iran-backed militant group in eastern Lebanon, the source said

Jordan's King Abdullah II told visiting US lawmakers a Gaza truce was needed "to stop the cycle of violence in the region", according to a royal statement. Violence meanwhile raged in the Gaza Strip, where the civil defence agency reported at least 12 dead in Israeli strikes, and in Lebanon where the Israeli military said it killed a "significant" Palestinian militant. Mediation efforts seeking an end to the Gaza war continued in Qatar where an Israeli delegation was present Wednesday, said a source close to the negotiations. In the West Bank, a Tulkarem municipality official said the scale of the destruction was "very big". Israeli forces "attacked the infrastructure, in particular in the city of Tulkarem and the Nur Shams camp" and "destroyed" water and sewage systems, Hakim Abu Safiyeh said. AFP

Bangladesh interim govt revokes ban on Jamaat party

DHAKA

BANGLADESH's interim government on Wednesday revoked a ban on the rightwing Jamaat-e-Islami and its student wing Islami Chhatra Shibir, less than a month after it was outlawed by former prime minister Sheikh Hasina.

"It (lifting the ban) will come under effect immediately," the Home Ministry said in a gazette notification, noting that there was no particular evidence against the organisation.

The erstwhile Awami League government led by Hasina had imposed a ban on Jamaat on August 1, 2024, accusing the Islamist party as a 'militant and terrorist' organisation.

The government blamed Jamaat's student wing for inciting chaos over a quota system for government jobs.

Welcoming the interim government's decision, Ameer of Bangladesh Jamaat-e-Islami, Shafiqur Rahman, called for an end to the politics of hatred and division in Bangladesh.

"We want the politics of hatred to be buried... it shouldn't rise again. We want the politics of division to be buried," he told journalists.

Rahman said that Jamaat-e-Islami does not support the division of the nation over any issue, saying, "In all cases, we want the nation to be united."

The ban on Jamaat-e-Islami and its student wing, Chhatra Shibir, was a deliberate attempt to divert attention from the anti-government movement, he said. The government notification said the ban under the Anti-Terrorism Act 2009 has been lifted as there was no particular evidence against the organisation. The government believed that Jamaat and its associate bodies were not involved in terrorist activities and violence. PTI

Afghan women sing to protest Taliban banning their lifestyle

KABUL

IN a video reportedly shot inside Afghanistan, a woman is shown singing while covering her face in black.

"You have silenced my voice for the foreseeable future... you have imprisoned me in my home for the crime of being a woman," she sings.

She is one of dozens of women taking part in an online protest against a law that bans women from raising their voices in public.

Taliban authorities last week announced the law, which includes rules that women's faces, bodies and voices should be "covered" outside the home, among 35 articles dictating behaviour and lifestyle.

In response, Afghan women inside and outside the country have posted videos on social media of them singing, along with hashtags such as "My voice is not forbidden" and "No to Taliban".

Former policewoman Zala Zazai, who currently lives in Poland, shared a video of herself singing a song by well-known artist Aryana Sayeed about the resilience of Afghan women.

She said the restrictions on Afghan women were "unacceptable".

"Afghan women have come to understand that misogynists can no longer deny our human rights in the name of religion and culture. And our voices calling for our rights will never be silenced," she said.

Groups of women activists posted videos raising their fists or tearing photos of the Taliban supreme leader Hibatullah Akhundzada, who rules by decree from the southern city of Kandahar. "A woman's voice is the voice of justice," an activist group chants in another video.

The law on the "Promotion of Virtue and Prevention of Vice" formalises many rules already in place since the Taliban swept to power in 2021, implementing a strict interpretation of Islamic law – or Sharia.

It says women must not sing or recite aloud in public or let their voices carry beyond the walls of their homes.

"When an adult woman has to leave her home out of necessity, she is required to cover her face, body and voice," it says. AFP

TELEGRAM CEO FREED, WILL HAVE TO APPEAR IN COURT

Pavel Durov

PARIS: FRENCH prosecutors on Wednesday freed Telegram CEO Pavel Durov from police custody after four days of questioning over allegations that the messaging app is being used for illegal activities. Durov was detained on Saturday at Le Bourget airport outside Paris as part of a judicial inquiry opened last month involving 12 alleged criminal violations. "An investigating judge has ended Pavel Durov's police custody and will have him brought to court for a first appearance and a possible indictment," a statement from the Paris prosecutor's office said. Allegations against the Russia-born Durov, who is a French citizen, include that his platform is being used for child sexual abuse material and drug trafficking, fraud and abetting organized crime transactions, and that Telegram refused to share information or documents with investigators when required by law. Durov's arrest in France has caused outrage in Russia, with some government officials calling it politically motivated and proof of the West's double standard on freedom of speech. The outcry has raised eyebrows among Kremlin critics because in 2018, Russian authorities themselves tried to block the Telegram app but failed, withdrawing the ban in 2020. In Iran, where Telegram is widely used despite being officially banned after years of protests challenging the country's Shiite theocracy, Durov's arrest in France prompted comments from the Islamic Republic's supreme leader. Ayatollah Ali Khamenei weighed in with veiled praise for France. AFP

Amazon to make entry into quick commerce space

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

AFTER Flipkart, ecommerce giant Amazon is reportedly planning to enter quick commerce space soon, which is dominated by Zomato-owned Blinkit, Swiggy Instamart and Zepto.

Flipkart recently entered the space with 'Minutes' service. According to reports, ecommerce platform BigBasket is also planning to enter the quick commerce space as there has been demand for quick deliveries.

When asked Amazon about its plans, its spokesperson said, "We don't comment on speculations".

Ratna Mehta, chief executive officer and Managing Partner, Fundalogical Ventures, told this newspaper that as customer preferences change, market places as well as brands are seriously thinking about quick commerce.

A couple of years ago, many venture capitalists were questioning the quick commerce model, but the view has been changing now.

"Blinkit has shaped up its business with a sharp focus on operations, flawless customer service and eye on profitability. They are proving that quick commerce can become profitable," he said.

As players such as Amazon and Flipkart are planning to enter, it will be interesting to see this space in the next two-three years, he added.

> Average monthly transacting users of quick commerce stand at 1/3rd of online food delivery, 1/4th of online mobility, leaving headroom for growth, given high consumer overlap with these sectors
> Amazon

Redseer predicts a 40-45% GMV CAGR for q-commerce in the next 3 years. "The average monthly transacting users of quick commerce still stand at 1/3rd of online food delivery and 1/4th of online mobility, thereby leaving headroom for growth, given the high consumer overlap with these sectors," it recently said.

Union Minister of Commerce and Industry Piyush Goyal on August 22 came down heavily on Amazon alleging that it is practicing predatory prices. However later in the day, he said the government is not against e-commerce and only wants fair competition between online and offline businesses.

Regulator says post listing, some SME companies, promoters projecting unrealistic picture of their operations

SEBI asks SME stock investors to be cautious

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

IN the ongoing frenzy seen across small and medium enterprises (SME) segment where all the fundamentals have gone for a toss, the capital market regulator (SEBI) on Wednesday urged investors to be watchful and exercise caution while investing in such securities.

SEBI said it has come to notice that post listing, some of the SME companies and /or their promoters have been resorting to "certain means" that project an unrealistic picture of their operations.

It added that such companies/promoters make public announcements that create a positive picture of their operations. These announcements are typically followed up with various corporate actions such as bonus issues, stock splits and preferential allotments.

> Some companies/ promoters make public announcements that create a positive picture of their operations, SEBI says

UNDER THE LENS
This also presents an easy opportunity to the promoters to off-load their holdings in such companies at elevated prices
This exuberance made many investors question the existing fundamentals of the bull-run and the regulator's scrutiny in the segment
SEBI's advisory comes in the backdrop of ₹12 crore IPO of Resourceful Automobile, which received bids worth close to ₹4,800Cr
Of more than 160-odd IPOs on the SME platforms of the NSE and the BSE in 2024, 109 of them have received bids 100 times the shares on sale
IN A COUPLE OF CASES, THE BIDS CROSSED 1,000 TIMES THE SHARES ON SALE

"Above actions create a positive sentiment among investors, which induces them into purchasing such securities. Simultaneously, this presents an easy opportunity to the promoters to off-load their holdings in such companies at elevated prices... It can be seen that the modus-operandi of these entities follows a pattern that is by and large similar to what has been mentioned above," the advisory said on Wednesday.

It comes in the backdrop of the ₹12 crore IPO of Resourceful Automobile, a Delhi-based company with just two outlets and 8 employees, which received bids worth close to ₹4,800 crore. This exuberance made many investors question the fundamentals of the bull-run and the regulator's scrutiny in the segment.

Resourceful Automobile is not an isolated case. Of more than 160-odd IPOs on the SME platforms of the NSE and the BSE in 2024, 109 of them have received bids 100 times the shares on sale. In a couple of cases, the bids crossed 1,000 times the shares on sale.

In March, SEBI Chairperson Madhabi Puri Buch had flagged concerns around "price manipulation" in the SME platform listings and trading, and asked investors to be cautious.

SEBI has taken action on several SME companies this year for malpractices. Last week, it barred Debock Industries and its management from the securities market and ordered seizure of illegal gains of nearly ₹89 crore. Last week, SEBI's whole-time member, Ashwani Bhatia, asked chartered accountants to be more diligent while auditing companies listed on the SME exchanges. The NSE had last month imposed a price control cap of 90% on the issue price of SME IPOs during the pre-opening session.

LEGAL

CoinSwitch to file lawsuit against WazirX

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Bengaluru

CRYPTOCURRENCY exchange CoinSwitch, which has ₹12.4 crore in INR, ₹28.7 crore in ERC20 tokens, and ₹39.9 crore in other tokens on WazirX, will take legal action to recover the funds. This amounts to about 2% of all funds of CoinSwitch.

This legal action came at a time when WazirX moratorium application was filed in Singapore Court. "From the day of the incident, we have tried to be in constant touch with the WazirX team, seeking recovery of the funds that are stuck on their exchange. Our efforts have not come to fruition," CoinSwitch said. A cyberattack on WazirX recently led to theft of about ₹2,000 crore funds.

"As per WazirX claim, only ERC20 tokens were impacted in the alleged cyberattack. That translates to less than 1 % of total CoinSwitch funds. As an exchange aggregator, CoinSwitch maintains a small amount of liquidity on third-party crypto exchanges (7%), and this is to ensure seamless trading for our users," CoinSwitch added. Meanwhile, Zettai, which operates crypto assets of WazirX, has filed an application with the High Court of Singapore for a moratorium under section 64 of the Insolvency, Restructuring and Dissolution Act 2018.

Challenges galore for new SBI chairman

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

CHALLA Sreenivasulu Setty, who has taken charge of the corner office of the country's largest bank on Wednesday, has the challenge of maintaining the bank's asset quality, which is at a decadal best.

The bank is again witnessing people coming back to its counters to park their money, which for quite some time has been missing.

He will head the India's largest bank for the next three years. Setty also has a larger task of making the bank more profitable as his predecessor Dinesh Khara, has set a record of sort on this front already, apart from many a new regulatory challenges as the Reserve Bank has been tightening the noose on this front.

Setty's rise to the pole position as the 27th chairman of the bank is a typical example of how hard work and dedication, and not pedigree, can take one to the peak of one's career and life--having been a son of a rural financier in the undivided Andhra Pradesh in September 1965 in the Peddapothulapadu village of the Jogulamba Gadwal district of the present-day Telangana.

He had his entire schooling in Telugu medium government schools. Later on, Setty did a bachelor's in agriculture from Acharya NG Ranga Agricultural University. He is also a certified associate of the Indian Institute of Bankers.

Khara after helming the bank from October 7, 2020, has superannuated on Wednesday. Before becoming the chairman, Setty was the senior most of the four managing directors looking after international banking, global markets and technology verticals after beginning as a probationary officer in 1988. Setty's name was cleared by the Financial Services Institutions Bureau on June 29, 2024, after interviewing the other two MDs -- Ashwini Kumar Tewari and Vinay M Tonse.

Setty's challenge on the liability side will be huge as every bank is facing challenges, as the issue is more widespread and ssytemwide.

Green bonds, deposits need scalability, monitoring: Das

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

UNDERLINING the need for sustainable finance given climate change risks, Reserve Bank Governor Shaktikanta Das has flagged concerns on the same saying both green bonds and green deposits face several challenges such as poor scalability, greenwashing, and lack of robust monitoring and reporting mechanisms, among others.

The RBI introduced the frameworks for sovereign green bonds in 2022 and green deposits in 2023. However, they have not gained traction and volume. So far, only SBI has launched green deposit schemes this January but admits that they lack traction, while many have launched green bonds.

"Despite many benefits, green bond and green deposit frameworks face several challenges," Das said.

He said the central bank has been making UPI and Rupay Cards global payment tech platform. The UPI QR code is acceptance across Bhutan, France, Mauritius, Singapore, Sri Lanka, Nepal, and the UAE. RuPay Cards are accepted in Nepal, Bhutan, Singapore, Mauritius, and the UAE.

SBI raises ₹7,500 cr Basel-III bonds

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE State Bank of India (SBI), country's largest lender, raised ₹7,500 crore at a coupon of 7.42% through its first Basel III compliant tier 2 bond issuance in the current financial year.

The 15-year- bonds have a call option after 10 years and each anniversary dates thereafter, the bank said in a statement on Wednesday. The issue attracted overwhelming response from investors with bids in excess of ₹8,800 crore against the base issue size of ₹5,000 crore, and based on the response, the bank has decided to accept ₹7,500 crore. The issue received 70 bids indicating wider participation from provident funds, pension funds, mutual funds, banks etc. New chairman CS Setty said wider participation and heterogeneity of bids demonstrated the trust investors place in the bank.

TRAI considers limiting unlimited calls, messaging services

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

IN a bid to curb the menace of unsolicited commercial communications (UCC), the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) is considering limiting unlimited calls and messaging services.

In a consultation paper, the regulatory body proposed exploring differential tariffs for voice calls and SMS to discourage UCC. It suggests introducing a differential tariff beyond a specified limit for bulk messaging or calls, particularly in the context of people-to-people (P2P) messages or calls. TRAI said a need is felt to review the existing provisions, and one of the measures could be to make provision for differential tariff beyond a specified limit for bulk messaging or calls.

The TRAI paper sought public comments on the review of Telecom Commercial Communications Customer Preference Regulations, 2018 (TCCCPR-2018).

"Views of the stakeholders are sought on the need to review tariff of P2P messages/ calls per SIM on a daily basis beyond a specified limit to curb menace of UCC from UTMs," reads the paper.

TRAI seeks stakeholders' views on reviewing tariffs for P2P messages/calls per SIM on a daily basis beyond a specified limit to curb UCC from unauthorised telemarketers. The regulatory body also wants to know if there is a need to review the five-paisa exemption accorded to transactional messages and bring them at par with other commercial messages.

Additionally, TRAI wants to know if there should be a provision for minimum security deposits from entities registering with any of the Access Providers against the misuse or breach of regulations. It also seeks views on what should be the provisions in the Code of Practice (CoP) for full or partial encashment/replenishment of security deposits against the breach of the regulations.

TRAI issued TCCCPR 2018 to regulate commercial communications and protect customers from UCC.

Steel prices decline amid sluggish demand

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

STEEL prices in India have fallen sharply over the past three-and-a-half years, reflecting a major downturn, driven by sluggish domestic demand and increased imports.

As of August 2024, prices for cold rolled steel (CRT) stood at ₹57,400 per tonne, down from ₹71,000 in December 2021. Similarly, hot rolled coil (HRC) steel prices fell about 24% to ₹50,300 per tonne, compared to ₹66,000 in late 2021, as per BigMint, a platform for price reporting.

Experts say the decline in prices can be attributed to multiple factors, mainly lack of robust demand both domestically and internationally. Experts note that a decrease in raw material costs has contributed to downward pressure on steel prices. Steel imports from countries such as South Korea, China, Indonesia, Vietnam, and Japan has exacerbated the situation, as global suppliers have sought to offload excess inventory in the Indian market.

In response to these challenges, the Indian government recently initiated anti-dumping probe against Vietnam, even as existing duties on Chinese steel have not significantly mitigated the impact of lower-priced imports from China. As per experts, anti-dumping probe is unlikely to have a substantial impact in view of high levels of inventory and the fact that domestic production and imports have outpaced demand.

"The price decline is an issue – but it's almost entirely attributable to the massive excess capacity in the Chinese market, combined with Vietnamese manufacturers being affected by steep fall in domestic steel demand of China. ," said Mukund Pant, Managing Director at Metal Power Analytical.

Despite the current slump, analysts are cautiously optimistic about a potential rebound in demand. BigMint projects a 7-8% rise in steel consumption in the current fiscal, fueled by the festive season and recent approvals for various infrastructure development projects by the government. Implementation of these projects is expected to accelerate following the October festive period.

PPA celebrates 78th Independence Day 2024 with patriotic fervour

78th Independence Day was celebrated by the Paradip Port Authority filled with patriotic fervour, flag hoisting and cultural events. Gracing the occasion as Chief Guest, Shri P.L. Harandh, Chairman, PPA hoisted the National Flag. Addressing the occasion, he said that Paradip Port Authority cargo throughput zoomed past 50 MMT (Million Metric Tonnes) mark in current fiscal by the end of July. After a spectacular last fiscal, PPA has made an auspicious beginning to FY 24-25 and total cargo volume has reached 50.16 MMT (Million Metric Tonnes) within the first four months (122 days), which is the fastest ever in PPA history. Paradip Port's competitive port tariffs undoubtedly play a significant role in attracting business.

LSG mentor Zaheer 'all for' IPL's impact player rule

Lucknow Super Giants' new mentor Zaheer Khan wants the impact player rule to be persisted with in the Indian Premier League, which the former fast bowler believes works for the 'improvement' of Indian cricket. Zaheer took over as the team mentor role of LSG on Wednesday, a post left vacant by the exit of Gautam Gambhir in late 2023.

Test cricket will remain a priority for everyone: Shah

The ICC chairperson-elect outlines his mission for the new role he will assume in December

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

HAVING been elected unopposed as the Independent Chair of the International Cricket Council, BCCI secretary Jay Shah will not assume office till December 1, 2024. However, the challenges that lie ahead for the chairperson-elect are already clear.

In fact, Shah, who will be holding the office for three years with an option of continuing for three more years, himself has outlined his goals for the top job in the global cricketing body. And it starts with prioritising Test cricket and creating a dedicated fund for the longest format at a time when players are looking to become freelance T20 stars, especially from countries that do not have significant financial resources. Shah said that the goal would be to ensure players are committed to the longest format. "While the T20 is a naturally exciting format, it is equally important that Test cricket remains a priority for everyone as it forms the bedrock of our game. We must see to it that cricketers are driven to longer format and our efforts will be channelised towards this goal," he said soon after the confirmation.

As for the expansion of the sport across boundaries, cricket has already been included in the LA 2028 Olympics and it will be one of Shah's top priorities. The ICC also has outlined the growth of women's game, taking the T20 World Cup to 16 teams — it will be a ten-team event in the United Arab Emirates in October. Shah said that more attention should be given to the women's game.

"We must champion the ICC's mission further by allocating more resources and attention to women's cricket and differently-abled cricket. Together, we can empower these essential facets of the sport, making them not just visible but vibrant and thriving," Shah said.

While these are the main areas he intends to work towards once assuming office, there are other challenges for Shah, who is the fifth Indian after Jagmohan Dalmiya, Sharad Pawar, N Srinivasan, Shashank Manohar to hold the post. The ICC has already formed a committee to review the conduct of the recently concluded T20 World Cup in the United States and West Indies. The primary concern was the overshooting of the budget allocated for the tournament, there were also issues on the pitches in the US and so on. The committee is expected to submit its report within the year.

Then there is the issue with Disney Star who is keen on renegotiating the $3 billion deal they made for broadcasting ICC tournaments in India from 2024 till 2027. There is a Champions Trophy, two women's T20 World Cups, a men's T20 WC and a men's ODI WC left in the cycle.

This also comes at a time when the Competition Commission of India approved the merger of Reliance Industries Limited, Viacom18 Media Private Limited, Digital18 Media Limited, Star India Private Limited and Star Television Productions Limited, which is expected to create a media empire worth well over ₹70,000 crore.

It is also to be seen whether the decision regarding the Champions Trophy, which is scheduled to be played in Pakistan in February 2025, comes before he takes office. India has't travelled to Pakistan since 2008 for political reasons. Last year, the Asia Cup was played in a hybrid format with India playing all their games in Sri Lanka. While a draft schedule has already been made and Pakistan is getting their stadium ready, it is yet to be seen if the Indian government allows the cricket team to travel and if they don't what happens to the tournament.

While Shah hasn't touched upon some of the subjects, he said that every challenge is an opportunity. "I eagerly anticipate a tenure rich with collaborative efforts, striving to dismantle the barriers that have hindered cricket's progress. Every challenge we face is an opportunity in disguise, and together, we will transform adversity into triumph," he said.

US Open: Dimitrov and Keys advance to round 3

AFP @New York

GRIGOR Dimitrov was one of the early winners at Flushing Meadows on Wednesday morning. The Bulgarian cruised into the third round after a straight-sets 6-1, 6-1, 7-6(4) win over Rinky Hijakita. Joining him in the third round was Tallon Griekspoor after Sebastian Baez withdrew while trailing 1-6, 0-2. In the women's side, Madison Keys, still searching for her second Major final and first since the 2017 French Open, coasted past Maya Joint 6-4, 6-0. She will face Elise Mertens, who enjoyed a fairly serene outing against Ajla Tomljanovic before prevailing 6-3, 6-2.

Alcaraz, Osaka in Rd 2

Carlos Alcaraz roared home for a 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1 victory over 186th-ranked Australian Li Tu on Tuesday to launch his bid to add the US Open to the Roland Garros and Wimbledon titles he claimed this year.

The 21-year-old Spaniard pushed his Grand Slam winning streak to 15 matches as he tries to join Rod Laver and Rafael Nadal as the only men in the modern era to win the French Open, Wimbledon and the US Open in the same year.

He got off to a hot start, seizing a 4-0 lead on the way to pocketing the first set. But Tu, who came through qualifying, got to grips with the imposing Arthur Ashe Stadium and Alcaraz's serve to take the second set. He tried to keep the pressure on in the third, but Alcaraz's break for a 4-3 lead opened the floodgates, the Spaniard winning the eight straight games to take the third set and build a 5-0 lead in the fourth.

But Tu wouldn't go quietly, saving a pair of match points before Alcaraz closed it out with a love service game. "I'm really happy to get through and get a chance to be better the next round," Alcaraz said.

"Obviously, I felt well on court. I think I hit the ball well. I moved well. A few things that I have to improve if I want to, you know, keep going in the draw, but obviously I have to give credit to him as well that he played really good tennis and today surprised me a little bit in the second set." Alcaraz had 50 winners and 30 unforced errors. Eighteen of those errors came in the second set, when he lost three straight games. That included dropping his serve to surrender the set, Tu finally converting his fifth set point.

The third-seeded Spaniard, who won the first of his four Grand Slam titles in New York in 2022, will face 2021 quarter-finalist Botic van de Zandschulp in the second round, headed toward a possible semi-final showdown with top-ranked Australian Open champion Jannik Sinner.

Naomi Osaka, who missed last year's tournament after giving birth to her daughter Shai, stunned 10th seed Jelena Ostapenko. Osaka, now ranked 88, came through 6-3, 6-2 for her first top 10 win in four years.

The Japanese star crunched nine aces in her 19 winners and committed just five unforced errors to her opponent's 21.

Young Indian players are doing better: Yangzi

KALYANI MANGALE @ Chennai

CHINA-BORN Australian table tennis star, Yangzi Liu, who bagged the Female MVP Of the League in the fourth season of the Ultimate Table Tennis, is back in India for the fifth edition. One of the dominant female players, now playing for Goa Challengers, has her eyes set on the team prize.

In a conversation with this daily, she spoke on the tournament, how it has helped youngsters, her journey and more. Excerpts:

On UTT season five

The last season was amazing for me and the team (Yangzi played for Chennai Lions in the fourth season) made it to the final. It was a shame that we lost the final, but my experience of the tournament, last year and this year has been good. I am thankful that they asked me to come back to play in India again. Last year, I did not lose a single match and I think, the team helped me a lot, including coaches and other teammates. It was a different tournament compared to how we usually play, so I was not that comfortable in the beginning. Everyone kept giving me confidence and that helped me navigate the season. I am really enjoying everything in this tournament.

On UTT helping youngsters

I think the young players from India are doing really well in table tennis in recent years. To be honest, I paid more attention to the women's side and many of them are doing better. You saw the mark they made in the Olympics and even in Youth Contender fixtures they are producing good results. I too feel the role change for me a little bit, because I used to be the youngest person in the team, trying to get help. This year I have Yashaswini (Ghorpade) in my team who is younger than me. I hope I can be a good role model for her to look at.

On playing alongside Sharath Kamal & Harmeet Desai

Sharath Kamal is an absolute legend of Indian Table Tennis. We played mixed doubles together last year and he did tell me a couple of things that improved my mixed doubles performance. I am working very well with Harmeet in this season. When we started practicing mixed doubles, initially, we didn't feel that good, but when it came to the match it just clicked and we played well from then on.

On her personal journey

Table tennis for being started when I was about six years old. When I was younger, my father was my coach and we moved to Shanghai from our hometown to concentrate more on my table tennis and studies when I was seven. After about seven to eight years I moved overseas to start my professional career. When I came to Australia, I went to a language school for English. Our national coach did help me out to try new things there.

Her message to Archana Kamath

We have trained together in the past. I heard she is moving to the USA for education and I think it is a good move for her. She has done great things for Indian table tennis. We will miss her, but I wish her all the best.

Dabang Delhi player Sathiyan G in action against Goa Challengers player Mihai Bobocica in the Ultimate Table Tennis 2024 in Chennai | ASHWIN PRASATH

Sathiyan shines for Dabang Delhi

CHENNAI: Dabang Delhi captain Sathiyan G put up a dazzling show against Goa Challengers' Mihai Bobocica to set up a maiden win for his team in Ultimate Table Tennis league. In the battle of the Olympians, Bobocica struck first, taking the first game 11-8 via a 23-shot rally, the longest of the season so far. However, Sathiyan retaliated with an comeback and took games two and three to claim the match. In the first women's singles, Delhi's Orawan Paranang scripted history by becoming the first paddler to defeat Yangzi Liu in UTT. Paranang stunned her opponent with an 11-7 win in game 1, before taking game 2 and, consequently, the match on a golden point. In the mixed doubles that followed, Paranang got the better of Liu again, this time alongside her partner Sathiyan.

TNCA XI spinners put Mumbai in a spot of bother

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

TNCA XI spinners S Ajith Ram (2/29), S Lakshay Jain (3/30) and Sai Kishore (3/30) bowled in tandem to pick up eight wickets among themselves to reduce Mumbai to 141 for 8 in 59.1 overs at stumps on the second day of the All India Buchi Babu Invitation tournament.

Ajith Ram accounted for the prize wicket of Suryakumar Yadav for 30 runs off 38 deliveries. Shreyas Iyer who batted at number three also failed as he fell to the guile of left-arm spinner R Sai Kishore. Earlier, TNCA XI made 379 with S Ajith Ram coming at No 10 scoring 53 runs. Briefscores: At Tirunelveli: Madhya Pradesh 207 vs Hyderabad 439/5 in 103 ovs (M Abhirath 211, Hima Teja 50); At Salem: Gujarat 371 in 109.4 ovs (Kshitij Patel 62, Jaymeet Patel 144, M Siddharth 6/76) and 6/2 in 4 ovs vs TNCA President's XI 211 in 61.4 ovs (S Mohamed Ali 56, C Andre Siddarth 55 n.o, Siddharth Desai 6/61); At Coimbatore: TNCA XI 379 in 117.3 ovs (Pradosh Ranjan Paul 65, B Indrajith 61, M Boopathi Vaishna Kumar 82, S Ajith Ram 53, Himanshu Singh 5/81) vs Mumbai 141/8 in 59.1 ovs (Divyansh Saxena 61 batting, Suryakumar Yadav 30, R Sai Kishore 3/30, S Lakshay Jain 3/30, S Ajith Ram 2/29); At Dindigul: Baroda 327 in 106.4 ovs (Vishnu Solanki 52, Ninad Rathva 105, Gagandeep Singh 6/84) vs Chhattisgarh 214/2 in 66 ovs (Ayush Pandey 52, Anuj Tiwari 84 batting, Amandeep Khare 63 batting).

Uruguay's Izquierdo passed away

AGENCIES @ Sao Paulo

URUGUAYAN football player Juan Izquierdo died Tuesday at a hospital in Brazil five days after collapsing during a game at Sao Paulo. He was 27.

Hospital Albert Einstein in Sao Paulo said in a statement that the Nacional defender died at 9:38 p.m. local time following 'cardiorespiratory arrest associated with his cardiac arrhythmia.' Izquierdo was taken to the hospital after he collapsed shortly before fulltime in a Copa Libertadores football match at Sao Paulo's Morumbi Stadium last Thursday. The Uruguayan club posted a statement on social media saying Izquierdo's death is felt 'in deep pain and impact in our hearts' and 'all Nacional is in grief for his irreplaceable loss.' South American football's governing body also posted a tribute. CONMEBOL president Alejandro Dom'nguez said he's 'deeply sorry about the early departure of Juan Izquierdo.

In a statement Monday, doctors at the hospital said Izquierdo was put into neurological critical care because of increased intracranial pressure.

Paralympics gets underway in the City of Light

AGENCIES @ Paris

THE opening ceremony of the Paris Paralympics got underway on Wednesday in the centre of the French capital, firing the starting gun on 11 days of intense competition.

Just as for the opening ceremony of the Olympics on the River Seine in July, it took place away from the main stadium for the first time at a Paralympics. In balmy weather -- in contrast to the heavy rain which blighted the opening of the Olympics on July 26 -- the Games opened in Place de la Concorde, in the presence of French President Emmanuel Macron.

The ceremony will culminate with the lighting of the cauldron, which has already become a highly popular point of interest in the city since its debut at the Olympics.

When the sporting action begins on Thursday, a new generation of Paralympians will join seasoned veterans competing in many of the same venues that hosted Olympic sports.

A total of 18 of the 35 Olympic venues will be used for the Paralympics, which run until September 8, including the Grand Palais which scored rave reviews for its hosting of the fencing and taekwondo under an ornate roof.

NEW CL DRAW: AI AI CAPTAIN!

WITH THE DRAW FOR THE REVAMPED CHAMPIONS LEAGUE ON THURSDAY, AN EXPLAINER ON THE NEW FORMAT...

What happened to the eight groups of four?

All that came to a halt. Under the new Swiss system (a system used in professional chess), each club will face eight teams (four home matches and as many away). To ensure there is some amount of fairness, the one big group will be divided into four seeded pots of nine sides each. So, for example, Manchester City who qualified for the Champions League proper, will face two sides from Pot A, two sides from Pot B, two more from Pot C and another batch of two from Pot D. Just like the existing rules, teams from the same league cannot face each other in the group stage.

How are the 36 teams identified?

Some of the existing system stays so that means teams who used to qualify for the Champions League proper, where they finished in the domestic league season the previous year. Two of the four extra places will go to the fifth place teams of the two leagues with highest coefficient ranking from last season in UEFA competition, which this year are Germany and Italy. There is an extra place for the fifth-best European league according to UEFA's ranking, which means France's Ligue 1 now has three automatic qualifiers. The remaining extra slot does a national champion to emerge from the qualifying rounds, which will be completed this midweek.

How will teams know who they will face? Will those old balls be rolled to find out?

If UEFA had stuck to the old draw system, it would have taken them 1000 balls, 36 glass bowls and four hours. This time, UEFA are employing a super computer to do. An AI, hence, will do the work for them and it will be over in 30 minutes.

How many teams will advance to the knockouts?

There is another slight tweak under the new system. The top eight after the eight group game will advance directly to the round of 16. Teams ranked 9 to 24 will have a two-legged tie with the victor advancing to complete the pre-quarterfinal line-up.

XPLAINER

WHAT HAS CHANGED?

Erm, a lot. For starters, there will be 36 teams — an increase of four — and all of them will be in one big group.

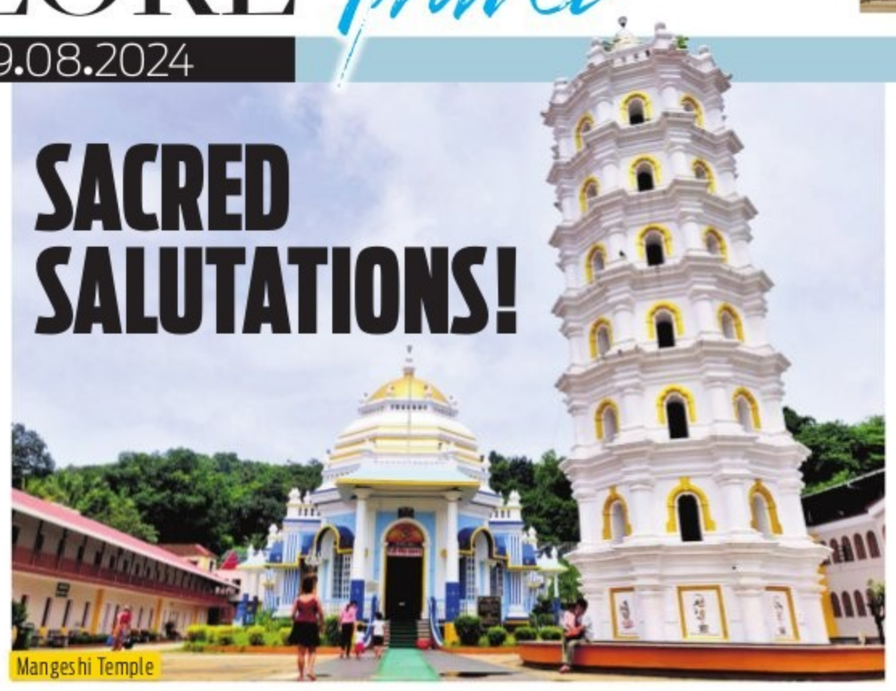
SACRED SALUTATIONS!



Beyond the beautiful beaches, Goa's indigenous Hindu architecture showcases sheer brilliance through cultural fusion. We bring you five temples, built in this unique Indo-Portuguese style...

ALWIN BENJAMIN SOJI

INDIA was invaded and colonised by several superpowers including the English, Dutch and the French. But if there is one country that has left an everlasting impression, over one particular area in India — it is undoubtedly the Portuguese rule over Goa. They ruled this small coastal region from 1510 to 1961 and the state became the capital of Portuguese India. During their reign, which lasted for more than four centuries, the Portuguese built forts, churches and other structures that left behind a legacy of Indo-Portuguese architecture that blends European and Indian styles. Even though almost 65 percent of the state follows Hinduism, during Portuguese rule, it became increasingly difficult for the Hindus to follow their religion and carry out worship. Interestingly, the Hindus, to avoid persecution by the Portuguese and continue to follow their rituals, built temples that look could pass off as churches, from the outside. When you look at the construction style of the facades, it would be tough to distinguish one from the other. We bring you five beautiful temples from across the state that follow this fusion architectural design that was born out of necessity, but continue to wow us by their sheer brilliance!

Mangeshi Temple

This temple dedicated to Lord Shiva had its origins in Kushasthali Cortalim, a village in Mormugao, which fell to the invading Portuguese in 1543. The Mangesh Linga was originally situated at Kushasthali or Cortalim on the banks of the river Aghanashini, but was moved to its current location at Mangeshi in Priol village in Atrunja Taluka when the Portuguese began forcibly converting people to Christianity. The architecture of the temple is captivating, with its columns, domes and balustrades. The premises houses a seven-story octagonal deep stambha or lamp tower, at the entrance. Built in this unique Goan temple architectural style, the magnificent tower is truly remarkable when illuminated by oil lamps on festive evenings. Stay at Grand Hyatt Goa, Bambolim, 25 kms away.

Shanta Durga Temple

Tracing its origins to more than 450 years back, this famous temple in Kavalem village, Ponda, is where goddess Durga is worshipped. She is a mediator between Lord Vishnu and Lord Shiva and hence the name, Shanta Durga or peaceful Durga. The image of the deity depicts her as holding two serpents, one in each hand. It is believed that the serpents represent Vishnu and Shiva. Constructed in the Indo-Portuguese architectural style, the temple building has rare Roman arched windows and a pyramidal shikhara among its characteristics. The huge five-story deep stambha or lamp tower and the big temple pond are additional attractions here. Stay at Elements by Rosetta, Varca, 25 kms away.

Mhalasa Narayani Temple

This temple in Mardol in Ponda taluk is one of the most unique temples in India. Dedicated to Mhalasa or Mohini, the female incarnation of Lord Vishnu, it is uncommon to find a temple in India where Vishnu is revered in both in his male and female incarnations. The temple's history dates back to the seventeenth century. The beautiful brass oil lamp, which stands 12.5 metres tall and is regarded as one of the biggest in the world, is a noteworthy element of the temple. This lamp is lit at all of the temple's major celebrations, providing guests with a visually appealing experience. Stay at Double Tree by Hilton Goa — Panaji, Kadamba Plateau, 16 kms away.

Kamakshi Temple

As the name itself suggests, this temple in Shiroda is dedicated to goddess Kamakhya or Kamakshi. The magnificent idol of the goddess at the temple, crafted from a salagrama shila, is what draws people in. The temple's main tower is magnificently designed to resemble a Buddhist pagoda. The corners of the temple roof have been adorned with pictures of hooded serpents. The serene atmosphere and the stunning surroundings add to the temple's appeal. Stay at The Figueiredo Mansion, Loutolim, 10 kms away.

Saptakoteshwar Temple

This temple in Narva is considered to be one of the six main shrines of Lord Shiva in the whole Konkan area. The temple's Mughal-style dome is one of its most remarkable features. The towering, deep stambha at this temple is unlike any other in the state and the mandapa is constructed in the European style. Beautiful arches and chandeliers can be found in the temple's main hall. Lord Saptakoteshwar, an incarnation of Lord Shiva, is the temple's deity. His idol is kept inside a wooden sanctuary. Stay at Casa Desa Monteiro, Divar Island, Goa, Piedade, 7 kms away.

A curated guide to happenings in the city

PG 2

The recent rape-murder of a Kolkata doctor has sparked nationwide outrage and sorrow, exposing the pervasive issue of gender-based violence. As we grapple with this tragedy, there is a renewed call for a safer and more equitable society. CE speaks to prominent women who, despite facing discrimination, continue to advocate gender equality and a just work environment

VOICES OF CHANGE

'Still questioned why girls should travel far for a tournament'

In today's world, sports for girls is still treated like a hobby, rather than a profession. We still get questioned about why we should travel far for a tournament, rather than play within the city. If you have one bad day or you are injured, which is bound to happen in sports, there are questions about your pursuit of sport. So you have to be extremely careful about not having any bad days. Another thing that bothers me a lot is the discussion about how short or long our outfits should be. While we as sportspersons are not bothered at all, there is huge debate about whether we are comfortable in it or not.

'Crucial to re-examine how we raise boys'

The pervasive male dominance in our society needs to be challenged at every level, from the intimate confines of the home to the broader public sphere. It's crucial to re-examine how we raise boys, instilling profound respect for all individuals, regardless of gender, race, or other characteristics. This requires a shift in societal attitudes and expectations. Indifference towards male-perpetrated violence is a symptom of a larger cultural problem that needs to be confronted directly.

'We must stand strong & continue to fight'

Men decide what women can or cannot do. Even today, when women like Sunita Williams spend months in space, we're told some roles aren't cut out for us. I believe women are equal to men, if not superior. Instead of comparing women to men, let's ask if men can match the multitasking abilities of women. Men struggle to handle more than one task at a time, often leaving them clueless. As an actor, I know this discrimination won't end soon. It will persist until women refuse to accept second-class treatment from society — not just men, but society as a whole. The mentality that different rules apply to men and women, even at home, must change. This isn't just an issue in India; it's a global problem. We must stand strong, unite, and continue the fight.

'Female doctors are judged unfavourably against their male counterparts for their decision-making skills'

Medicine is a profession where the quality of your work matters more than your gender. Yet, sometimes female doctors are judged unfavourably against their male counterparts for their decision-making skills and ability to handle stress. The training we get is the same, we earn the same degree, we take the same vows to save lives. Still, people have questions about female doctors working late and their ability to keep their professional and personal lives apart.

'Real change feels like it might be a century away'

As a technician in the entertainment industry, I find it deeply unfair that we are denied basic rights. The emergence of reports like the Hema Committee's shows the extent of these issues, but the fight seems endless. The more these incidents occur, the more restrictions are placed on women, limiting their opportunities instead of holding perpetrators accountable. The situation is tragic, and the mindset that perpetuates these injustices needs to change. Unfortunately, real change feels like it might be a century away.

What are the ways to make one's stomach more alkaline and manage indigestion and acidity issues?

To make your stomach more alkaline and alleviate indigestion and acidity, you can try the following methods. However, it's important to remember that everyone's body is different. If these issues persist, please consult your doctor.

- It's not just certain foods or poor eating habits that can cause acidity and indigestion. Other factors like stress, poor sleep, and eating too quickly without proper chewing can also trigger these issues.
- Although lemons are acidic, they have an alkalising effect on the body. When dining out, I ask for lemon, squeeze half of it into plain water, and sip it before I start eating.
- Avoid ordering lime juice as it's usually not freshly squeezed, and it's best to avoid excess salt and sugar.
- At home, you can mix 1 tablespoon of Apple Cider Vinegar (ACV) with a glass of water to aid digestion and reduce acidity.

UTKATA KONASANA CHAIR SIDE STRETCH (GODDESS POSE CHAIR SIDE STRETCH)

Categorised as a beginner's practice and included in gentle yoga, this pose helps to strengthen the lower body while improving overall stability. It releases stiffness in the shoulders and back. It can help students gain confidence, slowly helping them move towards the mat for other variations of Goddess Pose.

STEPS

- Sit on a chair with no arms in Chair Mountain Pose, keeping your back straight, feet and knee roughly hip-width apart, with relaxed breathing.
- Take a deep breath, open the legs wide in Goddess Pose On Chair Arms Down. Ensure your knees align with the ankles, forming a 90-degree angle.
- With your hands on the thighs, turn your feet — heels inward and toes outwards.
- Bend to your left, inhale, lift your right arm overhead. Exhale, rest your left arm's elbow on the left leg. The right arm remains straight and aligned to the hips.
- Inhale, and look upwards as you do in Horse Pose Side Stretch.
- Stay here in the Ustrasana Chair Side Stretch for about six breaths, keeping your right arm straight.
- To release, exhale, centre your head. Releasing the side bend, lower your right hand on the thigh. Stay here for a while. Realign to Goddess Pose On Chair Arms Down.
- Counter the stretch on the other side (right) following the above instructions.
- Release, come back in Chair Tadasana. Follow a few rounds of Chair Cat-Cow Pose to relax the upper body, if needed.
- Finally, relax in Three Part Breath Chair.

BENEFITS

- Relaxes the shoulders, upper back, chest, and neck.
- Opens the hips and whole pelvic, and brings a good stretch at the psoas.
- Strengthens the knees and ankles.
- Prevents the muscles around the pelvic, lower back, knees, upper back, chest, neck, arms, and shoulders from getting stiff and fatigued.
- Tones, activates, strengthens the muscles.
- Releases the tightness or stiffness and builds strength and balance. When practiced with a prop, gains better balance.
- Ensures deeper breathing. Acts as warm-up practice before pranayama.
- Safe for seniors to keep their body healthy and pregnant women, to improve mood and sleep.
- Safe practice for blind or kids and adults with special needs.

LIMITATIONS

- Those who have undergone any abdominal, pelvic floor, or lower back surgery, or have injury in the neck, shoulders, ribcage, spine, hamstrings, or hip joints, experiencing BP, have a history of heart ailments, or conditions like IBD, spondylitis of the neck, recovering from diastasis recti, tailbone pain (coccydynia), or anything that causes tensions, aches, pain, should avoid this.

BONDING WITH VIRTUAL PETS

DARSHITA JAIN

VIRTUAL pets emerged as an unexpected source of solace during the Covid-19 pandemic when social isolation became the norm. This period highlighted the unique ability of virtual pets to offer a sense of belonging and emotional soothing, especially for those feeling lonely or deprived of social interactions.

The concept of virtual pets isn't entirely new; it builds on the long-standing idea of pets providing emotional support to humans. However, the virtual aspect introduces new dynamics. Unlike real pets, virtual ones can be accessed anytime and anywhere, making them particularly appealing for people with demanding schedules or those who cannot care for a live animal due to physical limitations or financial constraints. As KN Radha Rani, a consultant clinical psychologist notes, "Virtual pets can be an effective tool for managing anxiety and depression. While they shouldn't replace professional help or traditional therapy, they can be a valuable supplement to other therapeutic methods."

The psychological benefits of interacting with virtual pets are noteworthy. They can reduce feelings of loneliness and isolation, improve mood, and help people express emotions. For some, virtual pets serve as a coping mechanism for managing anxiety, depression, or trauma. They also provide a safe space for social skills development and cognitive functioning, which can be especially beneficial for children and elderly individuals.

However, it's essential to recognise that virtual pets are not without their limitations. The most significant drawback is their inability to offer the same depth of emotional connection as real pets.

While virtual pets offer a convenient and accessible form of emotional support, they are best viewed as a supplement rather than a replacement for real pets or professional therapy. As we continue to explore their potential, it's crucial to balance their benefits with an awareness of their limitations, ensuring that they are used in a way that supports overall well-being without replacing the irreplaceable bonds we share with real animals.

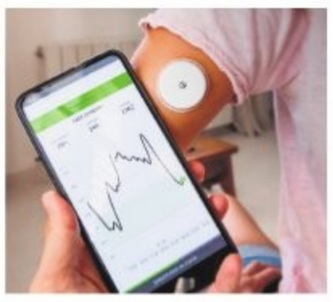
THE FUTURE OF DIABETES CARE

Continuous Glucose Monitors (CGM) have become popular among fitness enthusiasts and athletes, allowing for real-time monitoring of blood glucose levels

DR MAHESH D M

A continuous glucose monitor (CGM) is a device that allows for real-time monitoring of blood glucose levels, which is a substantial advance over older approaches that need periodic finger pricks. This technology is advantageous for diabetics, including those with type 1, type 2, and gestational diabetes, as it provides a comprehensive understanding of glucose changes throughout the day.

Continuous Glucose Monitoring is primarily designed for individuals with diabetes, but it can also be used by non-diabetics in certain circumstances. Athletes and fitness enthusiasts can benefit from CGM to optimise their performance and recovery, while individuals with hypoglycemia unawareness can use it to detect and prevent low blood sugar episodes. CGM is also valuable for research studies and for monitoring blood sugar levels in people with certain medical conditions.



Who benefits from CGM?

CGM can be used for real-time glucose monitoring, alarms for high/low glucose levels, and reviewing glucose trends. It is beneficial for people with:

Type 1 Diabetes: All individuals with Type 1 diabetes, regardless of age, are recommended to use CGM.

Type 2 Diabetes: CGM is recommended for adults with Type 2 diabetes who are on intensive insulin therapy, such as multiple daily injections or insulin pump therapy.

Individuals with Type 2 diabetes who have had severe hypoglycemia or are unaware of their low blood sugar levels.

CGM is also recommended for women with pre-existing diabetes or gestational diabetes who are on insulin therapy, hypoglycaemic patients and patients with considerable glycaemic variability; it is also recommended to adjust insulin therapy including dosage and timing.

CGM vs traditional monitors

CGM offers significant advantages over traditional glucose monitoring, but both methods have their own strengths and weaknesses.

CGM provides real-time data on blood sugar levels, reducing the need for frequent finger pricks and allowing for more informed decision-making. However, CGM can be expensive and may require regulation with finger pricks. Traditional glucose monitoring is often affordable and simple to use, but it can be inconvenient and may miss important blood sugar fluctuations.

Advantages of CGM

CGM systems provide reading at regular intervals which keeps patient updated and it plays a key role in making informed decisions about their medications and avoiding any risk or health implications.

These systems can also update users on low blood sugar levels, which prevents hypoglycemic episodes. Regular monitoring helps patients to make lifestyle iterations and keep blood sugar under control, which helps with the overall quality of life for individuals with diabetes.

Disadvantages of CGM

CGM systems can be expensive, and many require occasional calibration with finger pricks, which can be inconvenient. Some individuals may also experience skin irritation or discomfort from the sensor. The constant stream of data from CGM can be overwhelming for some users, especially those who are new to the technology. While CGM systems are generally accurate, there can be occasional discrepancies between CGM readings and finger prick measurements.

When to consider CGM

CGM is often advisable for Type 1 diabetics to monitor regular insulin dosage and avoid hypoglycaemia. It can also benefit Type 2 diabetics who at times find it challenging to maintain blood sugar who are at high risk of hypoglycaemia.

CGM is also beneficial during pregnancy which can help prevent and/or manage gestational diabetes and prevent complications. The best approach for managing diabetes may involve a combination of both methods, customized to individual needs and preferences, one should consult a diabetologist to determine the best approach.

Fans gear up for the re-release of Darshan's Kariya this week

CE FEATURES

AS blockbuster films make a return to the big screen, following the re-release of Darshan's Shastri, excitement is building for another iconic film's comeback. On August 30, Darshan's blockbuster Kariya is set to entice audiences, especially the actor's fans, who are eager to relive the magic of this unforgettable film. Directed by Prem, who recently shared the news on social media, the re-release of Kariya has fans buzzing with anticipation. Prem also expressed hope for his return to the limelight soon. Released in 2003, Kariya was a game-changer for both its director and lead actor. The gangster thriller, which marked Prem's directorial debut, ran for over 100 days in theaters, solidifying its status as a massive hit and catapulting Darshan to stardom. The film's gritty narrative led Prem and producer Anekal Balaraj to enlist 23 real-life criminals to enhance the film's rawedge. Darshan, who had previously made his mark in the crime drama Majestic, took on the titular role in Kariya.

The film initially enjoyed a successful re-release and is now set to reawaken its fanbase. With Abhirami starring as the female lead and a soundtrack composed by Gurukiran that dominated the charts—particularly with the hit 'Kencha Lo Macha Lo'—Kariya is also fondly remembered for its music and cinematography by Seenu.

DOLLARS PETE TO HIT THEATRES IN SEPTEMBER

CE FEATURES

THE plot revolves around a surprising mishap where Rs 13 crore, mistakenly transferred by a bank manager from Tamil Nadu, ends up in 100 different bank accounts

Mohan N Muninarayanappa is among the fresh wave of filmmakers stepping into the Kannada film industry. Having worked as an assistant director on films like Murphy and Madagaja, the director is now set to mark his debut with Dollars Pete, which is scheduled for release on September 6.

Dollars Pete is billed as a thriller and is based on a true incident. The plot revolves around a surprising mishap where Rs 13 crore, mistakenly transferred by a bank manager from Tamil Nadu, ends up in 100 different bank accounts. The film features an impressive cast, including Soumya Jagan Murthy, wife of Lucia Pawan, Metro Saga fame Aakarsh Kamala, Venkat Raj, and Kushals in lead roles. Dia star Pruthvi Ambaar also makes a special appearance, with additional performances by Duttu Bankar, Kaushik, Raghu Ramakoppa, Honnavalli Krishna, and Drama Juniors' Mahendra. Dollars Pete was filmed in and around Bengaluru and Mangaluru.

The film's technical team includes music by Sooraj Jois, cinematography by Anand Sundaresh, and editing by Mahesh Togatta. Action sequences are skillfully choreographed by Arjun Raj and Narasimha, while the screenplay is co-written by Ramesh S and Manohar Produced by Pooja TY under the Pentrix Entertainment banner.

'RANGABHOOMI IS WHERE I BELONG; RISHAB SHETTY PUSHED ME INTO ACTING'

Pramod Shetty talks at length about his upcoming film Laughing Buddha, which marks his first time playing the lead, his friendship with Rishab Shetty, working with director Bharath Raj and more

A SHARADHAA

THE saying "A friend in need is a friend indeed" perfectly encapsulates the bond between Rishab Shetty and Pramod Shetty. Their friendship has been a cornerstone in shaping both of their careers. It was Pramod who first saw the artist in Rishab during their college days, encouraging him to step into acting. "I noticed Rishab's potential when we were in college, especially after his performance in play, 'Gha-shiram Kotwal' where he won a state-level award. I knew he had it in him," Pramod recalls. Rishab, the director of Kirik Party and Sa.Hi.Pra. Shaale, eventually paving the way for his breakout role in Bell Bottom and later the national award-winning Kantara, which won him the 'Best Actor'.

On the flip side, Pramod credits Rishab for pushing him from the stage to the silver screen. "Rishab was the one who convinced me to move from theatre to film, starting with Ulidavaru Kandante. And now, I'm about to play the lead in Laughing Buddha," Pramod shares. The feel-good family drama, directed by Bharath Raj and produced by Rishab Shetty, also stars Teju Belawadi, Diganth and Sundar Raj, is set for release on August 30.

> I want to see Laughing Buddha succeed because it represents the hard work from everyone involved. Here, I can't truly embody the spirit of the Buddha
> - Pramod Shetty, actor

Throwing light on his journey, Pramod, a dedicated theatre artist, shares his pride. "Our theatre troupe, Rangasourabha, will complete 25 years this September, and I'm proud to be a theatre artist—Rangabhoomi is where I belong. But Rishab pushed me into films for two reasons: he wanted me to showcase my acting to a broader audience, and he knew I needed to support my growing family. He's been a true friend, always thinking about what's best for me. My journey in cinema began with Ulidavaru Kandante, and it opened doors for me to play pivotal roles and connect with more people in the industry."

Pramod adds, "It was Rishab again who encouraged me to take on the lead role in Laughing Buddha. Without his push, I might not have ventured into this new territory, but here I am, stepping into the spotlight."

When discussing Laughing Buddha, Pramod reveals the film's deeper meaning. "Everyone wants a Laughing Buddha at home, and they say it should be gifted, not bought. Happiness should be shared, and we must first be happy ourselves. When a Laughing Buddha comes home, it symbolises joy. In the film, my character Govardhan, a police constable, tries to keep everything lively and happy, whether at the station or at home. The story revolves around a small incident that disturbs his peace and how he finds his way back to spreading laughter," Pramod explains.

Despite his leap to a lead role, Pramod candidly shares that he didn't feel any pressure. "As a supporting actor, you might have 10 scenes to work on, but as a lead, you have 50. The workload increases, but there's nothing extravagant about it—unless you aim to be a commercial hero. For me, it's all about performance and the character I believe in, so there's no pressure."

Pramod is committed to the success of Laughing Buddha, recognising the effort put in by the entire team. "I want to see Laughing Buddha succeed because it represents the hard work from everyone involved. Here, I can't truly embody the spirit of the Buddha." Working with director Bharath Raj, Pramod appreciated the collaborative environment. "Bharath is soft-natured, and we started discussing the project during the scripting stage, not just during shooting. We both came prepared and improvised on set. Bharath is clear about what he wants and dislikes anything over the top."

On a lighter note, when asked about his remuneration for Laughing Buddha, Pramod shared a humorous story about Rishab, the film's producer. "I never asked for remuneration, but Rishab insisted on giving me something, saying it was my first time as a hero. When I asked him what he thought I was worth, he jokingly said, 'Take an advance, and we'll talk business after the film's release.' To this day, I've never discussed money with Rakshit Shetty or Rishab; they've always initiated it and given me what they believed I was worth. They've always been there when I needed them and understood my market value."

With Laughing Buddha, Pramod is stepping into a new chapter, but he doesn't plan to stay in the hero's shoes permanently. "I have two more projects as a lead, but I don't intend to remain a hero. I love playing supporting roles with the same passion," says Pramod, who also has directorial aspirations but no immediate plans to pursue them.

EVERY MOVIE IS A WORK OF ART AND HELPS ME GROW AS AN ACTOR AND AS A PERSON

CE FEATURES

VINAY RAJKUMAR, known for his soft roles in films starting with Siddhartha, Ananthu V/S Nusrath, 10, or the latest Ondu Sarala Prema Kathe, is set to surprise fans with his latest venture, Pepe. Scheduled for release on August 30, this film marks a departure from his usual character, who is now getting into the world of raw action and intense emotion.

"Honestly, I've never been a fan of blood," Vinay confesses, discussing his unexpected leap into this genre. "I didn't anticipate being cast in such a raw action drama. But I believe that films like Pepe can attract a specific audience. The crime backdrop and intense storytelling add a unique flavour that might catch their interest.

Vinay recalls his first photoshoot for Pepe with a mix of nostalgia and admiration. "When Shreelesh Nair and I finalised the story, he asked for a few specific shots—like lifting my panche and wiping my face. I thought it would take an hour, but we were done in just 15 minutes. Shreelesh's vision was clear right from the photoshoot till the film's finish, where every element fell perfectly into place."

On a lighter note, we quizzed Vinay about whether he intends to outdo the level of intensity and violence portrayed by his uncle, Shivarajkumar. "If Doddappa (Shivanna) gives just a glance at the camera, his eyes have the power to impact the audience," Vinay says, and adds "I never aimed to surpass that. But yes, my fans often ask if I'll do an action film. I wanted to take on an action role with a compelling story. Pepe has every action motivated by a strong narrative."

Vinay explains that the decision to cast him wasn't solely about the action. "The idea to cast me in Pepe came from a different incident. My Gramayana teaser, showing a new mass look, gave Shreelesh the idea to approach me for this role. I liked how he told the story. While Pepe might appear as an action film from the outside, it delves into themes like caste, family, and feminism. There's depth to the story that becomes evident on screen." Vinay adds, "Pepe touches on issues like communalism and women's abuse, which still resonate today. People are often wrapped up in their own lives and may not see what's happening around them. These issues are ongoing and frequently ignored."

Reflecting on his shift to socially-themed projects like Pepe or Gramayana, Vinay shares his thoughts on balancing genres. "It depends on what you consider success and how you want to present yourself. I'm stepping into a mass film after ten years in the industry, driven by a strong story and my fans' enthusiasm. Pepe offers a blend of commercial appeal and meaningful content. Every film is a piece of art, and each character helps me grow as an actor and a person," he concludes.

Vinay Rajkumar

says Vinay Rajkumar, who discusses Pepe which he says will showcase a new side of him, and about taking on fresh challenges
